

lin avenue store, said the amount taken was about $17,000, cash and checks, but could not give the exact sum. A bank book and deposit slip were in the bag. The names of persons to whom the checks were made out were looked up and messages were sent requesting them to have payment on the checks stopped.

Nerves Shaky?
If you're drinking coffee, quit it and try
INSTANT POSTUM
Trial tells—
"There's a Reason"

I am sure Resinol
will heal that rash

"It is a doctor's prescription and has been thoroughly tested through years of use in treating eczema and similar skin ills. Combining only the purest and gentlest ingredients it is specially suited to delicate skins or irritated inflamed surfaces. It promptly relieves itching and burning and hastens the healing. Aided by Resinol Soap the relief is even more prompt." Resinol products at all druggists.

Juniper Tar
COMPOUND

Best for Coughs, Colds,
Sore Throat
3¢ a Bottle at Druggists—
Dose One Cent

DON'T EXPERIMENT This old reliable family remedy has relieved thousands—it will relieve you—Try it Today.

Sensenbrenner's
SIXTH AND ST. CHARLES

Great One-Day Sale—Women's Comfort Footwear

$5.00 High Shoes
Plain Toe
Kid Tip
Seamless
$3.95

Every pair made of soft black kid stock, with cushion innersoles and handturn leather soles. Plain-toe styles with Cuban leather heel, kid tip and seamless, with low rubber heel. Sizes 3 to 9 in each style.

$5.00 Oxfords
Plain Toe
Kid Tip
Seamless
$3.95

Every pair made of soft black kid stock, with cushion innersoles and handturn leather soles. Plain-toe styles with Cuban leather heel, kid tip and seamless, with low rubber heel. Sizes 3 to 9 in each style.

DOCTOR TELLS WHAT TO DO WHEN YOU FEEL A COLD COMING ON
Continued From Preceding Page.

Just recovered from pneumonia or have been closely associated with patients with pneumonia, as, for example, nurses.

"The experiments of Dr. Lister in South Africa would seem to indicate that, to some extent, the particular pneumonia caused by the particular germ that we call the pneumococcus may be prevented by inoculation with dead cultures of that germ, in the best physical shape that we can, and must avoid, so far as possible, such things as getting chilled or wet for prolonged periods of time, or indulging in alcoholic excesses, or taking cold, or catching influenza, or any other disease that predisposes to pneumonia.

Respiratory Infections.
Common colds, influenza and pneumonia have many things in common. They are representatives of that great group of diseases that we call acute respiratory infections, and that are responsible for so many human ills. They are due to the invasion of the body by minute forms of life. As a result of this invasion, the body reacts to expel the invader, and during the course of the battle which ensues, certain changes take place in the structure and function of certain parts of the body, giving rise to a set of symptoms to which we give the name 'disease.' "In reality, then, when a person has one of these diseases his body constitutes a battleground for two opposing forces, the invading bacteria on the one hand and the forces of resistance that he can marshal on the other. The outcome will depend upon the number and character of these forces that he can marshal. Not only is he called upon to mobilize whatever forces he may already have on hand, but he is also called upon to create new ones and create them rapidly. He must mobilize his reserve and at the same time train a new army in a very brief period of time.

"Thus, in the final analysis, in the group of diseases that we have been discussing it is the patient himself who must win the fight. We may aid and abet him all we can in his struggle, but unless he himself contributes something to the battle it is likely to go against him.

Three General Rules.
"I would like to lay down for your guidance three general rules for the treatment of colds and all other infections of the respiratory tract. First, avoid any remedy that is advertised as a sure cure for all kinds of colds, coughs and what-not, because, as I hope I have made clear, there is no sure 'cure' for them in the sense that there is a drug or product which will instantly eliminate the disease from the body. Second, consult your physician, consult him early, and do not call him in when it is too late and expect him to accomplish the impossible. Finally, if something, above all things treat you must treat these diseases with them with respect."

STAR SAYINGS
If you live in the West End, bring your CLEANING and DYEING troubles to the STAR "Service Station" at 3824 Delmar. We'll put "extra mileage" into your garments. Special attention to out-of-town customers. WE CLEAN AND DYE RUGS.
"Our Proposition Is a Clean One."
STAR DYEING AND CLEANING CO.
2315 N. GRAND AVE.
4114 W. Florissant
3824 Delmar
3189 S. Grand
12 Phones. 12 Phones.

THIS WEEK SPECIAL
BENJAMIN "TWO-WAY" PLUG 79c
MAKES TWO SOCKETS OUT OF ONE. SELLS EVERYWHERE FOR 85c. SPECIAL.
None sold to dealers.
Smismans
ELECTRIC CO.
909 PINE ST.
PHONE: Central 708
Olive 5158

Please Shop
Carefully

Garland's

No Exchanges or Returns Permitted

Tuesday—A Sale of
New Tricotine Suits
$30

The Values Are Extraordinary

Here is an excellent example of the new lower prices that prevail on women's and misses' apparel for Spring. It has been several years since Suits of like quality have been seen at this low price in advance of their wearing season. Prices ARE lower, and it is up to all of us to become acquainted with the increased purchasing power of the 1921 dollar. See these Suits Tuesday and you will know that prices are returning to normalcy.

These Suits for Spring again attest the pre-eminence of navy blue tricotine and present interesting portrayals of the newest style tendencies. The short box jackets express by jaunty lines a spirit of youthfulness further accentuated by wide girdles and flowing sashes. For more conservative tastes the straightline tailored models are again given prominence in the realm of Suit fashions. Suits are plain or trimmed in new braid effects. All are silk lined.

Sizes for Women and Misses

Suit Section—Third Floor.

Sale of Sample Silk Sweaters

A marvelous exposition of the newest modes, weaves and colors in Silk Sweaters for the Spring and Summer of 1921. Sizes 36 to 46.

This Entire Collection of Samples Divided Into Three Groups for A ONE-DAY SALE ONLY

Lot One:

Fine fiber silk Tuxedo Sweaters, worth to $16.98.

$9.98

Lot Two:

Pure silk Sweaters, in Tuxedo styles, worth to $37.50.

$22.50

Navy, brown and black included.

Lot Three:

Extra heavy pure silk Tuxedo Sweaters, worth to $55.

$34.50

Second Floor.

THOMAS W. GARLAND

409-11-13 BROADWAY

Money-Saving Specials
Penny and Gentle

BROADWAY & MORGAN ST.
WE GIVE AND REDEEM EAGLE STAMPS

30c Long-cloth

Fine quality, 36 inches wide, full pieces; special, yard.

19c

25c Muslin

Heavy unbleached Muslin, 36 inches wide; full pieces, yard.

12½c

$1.25 Table Damask

Very fine quality, 72 in. wide; remnants up to 1 yard. Special, yard.

49c

Boys' $2 Pants

Boys' corduroy and dark wool mixed Pants; sizes to 17 years.

$1.00

$3.50 Lace Curtains

600 pairs Flat and Scotch Net curtains; plain with narrow borders and flower effects; white and ecru; 5½ yards long; on sale, pair.

$2.69

$1.69 Mohair

60-inch lustrous Mohair Shetland, fast black and navy blue; for dresses and separate skirts; extra special, a yard.

89c

Men's Cotton Socks

Full seamless, fast black and strictly perfect goods. Special, pair.

10c

Silk Socks

Men's Silk Socks—with 11½ top heels and toes; former price, $1.25. Special.

69c

Wash Ties

Men's new wash Ties—beautiful patterns. Extra special value.

25c

25c Hose

Women's Cotton Hose—fine gauge; reinforced heels and toes; a 2½ value; slight seconds.

12½c

Infants' Headwear

Samples of Infants' Headwear, lace trimmed, such as former, sold up to $1. Tuesday Special.

39c

Infants' Dresses

Samples of Infants' Dresses, short sleeves, fine quality, neatly made and trimmed; formerly sold at $1.30 to $2. Special.

98c

Women's Low Shoes

Choice of soft patent and leather styles; Mary Jane, pump and oxford styles; mostly in sizes 5 to 7½. Values, $2.50 to $3.50. Tuesday Special.

$1.95

39c Percales

Yard-wide fine quality, fast-color percales, in wide range of attractive styles, for dresses, aprons, shirts, etc.; formerly selling at 50c. Tuesday at

15c

39c Cheviots

Another lot of splendid Shirting; blues and grays, with neat woven checks and stripes. Sold formerly at 50c; Tuesday at

15c

$4 Vanity Boxes

Leather-covered Beauty Boxes with fancy linings, large mirrors, toilet brushes; extra special.

$1.98

$10,000 Worth of Rugs at a Sacrifice

$19.75 Wool & Fiber Rugs Extra Special: large selection of high-grade wool and fiber Rugs; size 9x12; regular price $19.75; now, for one day only, perfect. Tuesday at $12.75

$1.50 Cork Linoleum Choice selection of 4-yard wide Cork Linoleum; slightly misprint in pattern; regular price $1.50; now, for one day only, perfect. Tuesday at

89c

75c Floorcovering Choice patterns of felt Floorcovering, cut from roll, subject to imperfection; regular price 75c; now, for one day only, perfect. Tuesday at

39c

ADVERTISEMENT

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles. Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

ADVERTISEMENT

Musician Out of Tune

"Gas pressure in my stomach sometimes distressed me so that I could not think. I played out of tune and lost my position. No medicine helped me, and I became disheartened. Another musician advised me to try Mayer's Wonderful Remedy, and I am now enjoying the best of health." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal wall and always the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, intestinal, alimentary, including gas, colic, one dose will convince you. Mayer's Wonderful Remedy is sold by all druggists and is the only remedy of its kind. Mayer's Wonderful Remedy is sold by all druggists and is the only remedy of its kind. Mayer's Wonderful Remedy is sold by all druggists and is the only remedy of its kind.

CYCLONE CLEANER
MAKES RUGS LOOK LIKE NEW

You can find the house you are looking for through Post-Dispatch WANT Ads.

Boys' Mackin
Made in double with shawl collar, and pockets. Seve all-wool material.

Febru
WITH its be siastic ov values. A few 51-P

100-Pc. Di
Special,

American Dinner Sets, at orated with cor
gold lines.

100-Pc. Di
Special,

Of light-we semi-porcelain, border decorat
gold handles.

17-Pc. T
Special,

Of Japanese
ed in floral de sugar, creamer and saucers.

Huck Towel
FINE quality
Huck Towels
absorbent. 17 in.

Umbrella
GLORIA cloth rellas, built strong paragon fr with tight roll ca styles have hand ebony and natur dark green and cap trimmings and large white rings have opera and P handles.

Beauty Cas NOVELTY shaped Cas brown tooled square top; full coin purse and the fittings. Lined trimmed with silk

Women's Silk
FINE Milanese
Gloves, 16-length; in white navy, mode and p

Women's Silk
TWO-CLASP
Silk Gloves; quality plain tw in white, black an

Men's Chamoiset
ADLER'S Cha Gloves, with embroidered bac seams. All sizes

Kodak Albu
LOOSE leaf clo Albums, wi lettering. These size 7x10 inches, back for loose pi

Men's Oxf
TAN calfskin O with Goo d welted soles. A

Ball-

Boys' Specia
High-grade
20-inch fram brakes. 28-in

Boys' Mackinaws, $5.95

Made in double-breasted style, with shawl collar, detachable belt and pockets. Several patterns of all-wool material. Sizes 9 to 18. (Fourth Floor.)

STIX, BAER & FULLER

GRAND-LEADER

Tuesday—Economy Day

(No Mail or Phone Orders Filled)

Boys' Overcoats, $5.95

Several patterns, in 9 to 18 year sizes. Made with convertible collars, belts and pockets. Taken from higher-priced lines. (Fourth Floor.)

February China Sale

WITH its beginning today our patrons were enthusiastic over the unusual displays and exceptional values. A few of the items are presented.

51-Piece Bungalow Sets

at $10.95

These Sets are of very light-weight American semi-porcelain; decorated with dainty pink sprays and gold lines. Service complete for six persons.

100-Pc. Dinner Sets

Special, $24.50

American semi-porcelain Dinner Sets, attractively decorated with corn flowers and gold lines.

100-Pc. Dinner Sets

Special, $34.50

Of light-weight domestic semi-porcelain, with beautiful border decorations and mat gold handles.

17-Pc. Tea Sets

Special, $3.45

Of Japanese china, decorated in floral designs; teapot, sugar, creamer and six cups and saucers.

Huck Toweling, Yard

FINE quality bleached 18c

Huck Toweling, very absorbent. 17 inches wide. (On Thrift Avenue.)

Umbrellas, Each

GLORIA cloth Umbrella, built on $1.95

strong paragon frames; complete with tight roll cases. Women's styles have handles of carved ebony and natural wood, with dark green and white bakelite car trimmings and wrist cords or large white rings. Men's styles have opera and Prince of Wales handles. (Main Floor.)

Beauty Cases, Each

NOVELTY cone-shaped Cases of $1.95

brown tooled leather, with square top; full size mirror, flat coin purse and three white toilet fittings. Lined with silk and trimmed with silk tassel. (Main Floor.)

Women's Silk Gloves, Pr.

FINE Milanese Silk $1.45

length; in white, brown, gray, navy, mode and pongee. (Main Floor.)

Women's Silk Gloves, Pr.

TWO-CLASP novelty 95c

Silk Gloves; also fine quality plain two-clasp Gloves, in white, black and colors. (Main Floor.)

Men's

Chamoisette Gloves

ADLER'S Chamoisette 50c

Gloves, with heavily pique seams. All sizes, in gray. (Main Floor.)

Kodak Albums, Each

LOOSE leaf cloth-bound 98c albums, with gold lettering. These have 50 leaves, size 7x10 inches, and a pocket in back for loose pictures. (Main Floor.)

Men's Oxfords, Pair

TAN calfskin Oxfords $3.00

with Goodyear welted soles. All sizes. (Main Floor.)

Ball-Bearing Roller Skates

For Boys and Girls

at $2.29

THE Skates are strongly made and can be adjusted to the size of the shoes. The leather parts are of best quality. Easy running.

Boys' Bicycles, Special, $29.50

High-grade Bicycles, 18 and 20-inch frames, with coaster brakes. 28-inch wheels.

Boys' Sweaters, Special, $1.38

Coat Sweaters, in navy and maroon. Good, serviceable garments. Sizes 28 to 36. (Fourth Floor.)

Organdie Flowers, 39c

THESE popular Flowers are shown in beautiful colors. Worn on coat or dress. (Main Floor.)

Infants' Shoes, Pair

"KEWPIE TWIN" $2.98

Shoes in patent leather with white calfskin tops, or all white calfskin. Button style; hand turned soles. Sizes 6 to 8. (Main Floor.)

Chocolate

Cherry Clusters, Pound

CRYSTALLIZED Cherries, mixed with fine

milk chocolate and shaped into little round patties. (Main Floor.)

Cocoanut Layer Cake

TWO round layers with 30c

a covering of marsh-mallow and cocoanut. (Main Floor.)

Collar Point Laces, Yard

IMITATION Venice 69c

Lace in Baby Irish patterns. In white only. (Main Floor.)

Women's Linen Hdks.

PURE Irish linen Handkerchiefs, embroidered with block initials. 25c

(Main Floor.)

Men's Handkerchiefs, Ea.

OF soft finish cambric, with 4-inch hemstitched hems. 12c

(Main Floor.)

Silk Stockings, Pair

BLACK Silk Stockings, with "Point-toe" heels; reinforced with double lisle garter tops, soles, heels and toes. (Main Floor.)

Children's Sport Socks

HEAVY cotton English ribbed socks with 45c

double heels and toes. Large sizes only. (Main Floor.)

Men's Silk Socks, Pair

REINFORCED with 1.00

double lisle thread. Black and colors. (Main Floor.)

Glove Silk Bloomers

WOMEN'S ankle $3.15

length Glove Silk Bloomers, finished with shirred cuff. Good assortment of colors. (Main Floor.)

Tattoo Alarm Clocks

INTERMITTENT $2.60

back bell alarm; nickel case; large plain dial; 30-hour wind; made and guaranteed for one year by New Haven Clock Company. (Main Floor.)

Ostrich Feather Fans

LIMITED number of $5.95

beautiful curled Ostrich Feather Fans; in black, jade, light blue, light pink and Copenhagen blue shades. (Main Floor.)

Ribbon Watch Bands

RIBBON Bands for 65c

bracelet watches; good quality, with gold filled attachments. (Main Floor.)

Fancy Jewelry

CLEAN-UP sale of 3000 pieces, taken from our regular stock. Included are sterling Bar Pins, set with rhinestones; fancy imported Brooch and Bar Pins; fancy Hat Pins; Bag Frames; two pin Sets; Hairpins; Bracelets, etc., with many beautiful Necklaces in combinations, plain colors, pearls, etc. (Main Floor.)

"The Amazing Interlude"

ONE of Mary Roberts 69c

Rinehart's most popular books. A story of strong, fine characters that hold the reader's sympathy and imagination. (Main Floor.)

Sanitas Lunch Sets

CONSISTING of one $1.00

Centerpiece, six Tumbler and six Plate Dollies, in several attractive stenciled designs. (Second Floor.)

Lace-Trimmed Scarfs

SEVERAL different designs, showing fillet 50c

medallion centers. Sizes 18x45 and 18x52 inches. (Second Floor.)

Mickey Rompers

CHECKED Gingham 1.00

Rompers, in pink or blue. Sizes 2 to 6 years. (Second Floor.)

Damask Pattern Cloths

GOOD heavy-weight 1.55

Damask Tablecloths, in pretty patterns with Grecian border. Slightly soiled, otherwise perfect. Size 64x64 inches. (Second Floor.)

Girls' Princess Slips

OF good quality muslin, trimmed with fine lace and embroidery. Sizes 6 to 14. (Second Floor.)

Linen Toweling, Yard

GOOD quality Linen 39c

Crash Toweling, plain 39c or with fast color red or blue borders. 17 inches wide. (Second Floor.)

Longcloth, Yard

SOFT finished Longcloth, of good quality. 36 inches wide. (Second Floor.)

Marseilles Bedspreads

FINE quality Marseilles Spreads, in 4.95

several patterns; scalloped edges and cut corners; size 84x96 in. (Second Floor.)

French Serge, Yard

PURE Wool Serge, in 1.79

navy blue only. 50 inches wide. (Second Floor.)

New Sports Skirtings, Yard

WOOL velour finish 2.98

Skirtings, in large black and white checks and plaids. (Second Floor.)

3500 Bottles

Coty's Toilet Water

at $5.50 Bottle

COTY'S Toilet Water comes in original bottles. The odors are L'Origan, Chypre, Jasmine, Cyclamen, Muguet, Jacqueminot, Rose and El Fluerette, medium size bottle, $5.50. The price includes war tax.

Antoinette Donnelly's

Skin Soap and Shampoo

Combination, consisting of three cakes Cold Cream Soap and one box of Shampoo, for 59c (Main Floor.)

Navy Taffeta, Yard

ALL-SILK, a splendid quality, in navy 1.65

blue only. 36 inches wide. (Second Floor.)

Art Sports Satin, Yard

SHOWN in white 1.65

only; for all sports, indoor and outdoor wear. 36 inches wide. (Second Floor.)

Crepe de Chine, Yard

BRILLIANT finish, in a deep, rich 1.49

black. Pure silk. 40 inches wide. (Second Floor.)

Fancy Linings, Yard

JACQUARD and plain 98c

silk and lisle; new designs and colorings. 36 inches wide. (Second Floor.)

Extra-Size

Bungalow Aprons

PINK or blue striped 1.25

made with V-neck, trimmed with piping of contrasting material; these have pocket and belt. (Second Floor.)

Envelope Chemise

NAINSOOK Envelope 1.25

Chemise, variously trimmed with Val. lace, embroidery medallions and beading; some trimmed back and front. (Second Floor.)

Wall Paper, Roll

HAWAY weight Duplex 30c

Jatmeal Paper, in 30c dark brown, green and tan; 30 inches wide; also a good selection of tapestry papers for living and dining rooms. (Sixth Floor.)

Porcelain Kitchen Tables

PORCELAIN top 10.45

Tables, in white enamel, equipped with large drawer. 40-inch top. (Seventh Floor.)

Cotton Felt Mattresses

ALL-COTTON felt; 7.45

ing; roll edge; 45 pounds. (Seventh Floor.)

Petticoats

SOFT Sateen Petticoats in floral $1.25 designs on black grounds; made with flounces trimmed with pleatings and tucks. (Second Floor.)

Hair Switches

FIRST quality cent-vent cut Switches, $14.50

22 inches long; on three separate stems; 1 1/2 to 2 ounces in weight; in all shades, gray and white included. This special offer includes any difficult shade that we may have to mix in order to match, thereby saving the extra charge. (Third Floor.)

Traveling Bags

LARGE cut three-piece style Bags, $5.00 with reinforced corners; covered frame; inside lock; claw catches; plaid lining with three inside pockets. (Fourth Floor.)

Dress Trunks

MADE of basswood, $5.00

covered with sheet steel; reinforced with hardwood slats; good lock and bolts; deep divided tray; 32-inch size. (Fourth Floor.)

Waltke's Soap, 10 Bars

BUYING limit, ten bars; 45c orders accepted. (Fifth Floor.)

Boston Bags

MADE of smooth, black calfskin, in three sizes. Sewed-in steel frame, cloth lining, inside pocket, strap and buckle, double handles. (Fourth Floor.)

Keystone Clothesline

IN fifty-foot sections. 47c

MADE of good quality jute. (Fifth Floor.)

Water Buckets

GALVANIZED Water Buckets, with bail 29c handle; 10-quart size. (Fifth Floor.)

Washtubs

MADE of heavy galvanized iron, with drop handles; large No. 3 size. 93c

(Fifth Floor.)

Aluminum Omelet Pans

MADE of extra heavy 98c quality sheet aluminum, in the popular double style, with riveted handle. (Fifth Floor.)

Laundry Stoves

MADE of heavy $5.49

size; will hold No. 8 wash boiler. These stoves have heavy cast-iron fire bowl. (Fifth Floor.)

Pearl Bead Necklaces

For Economy Day—Choice

at $5.00

INCLUDED are Empress of India indestructible and also French filled Pearls of beautiful luster—graduated and straight styles. Necklaces are in lengths up to 30 inches. (Main Floor.)

Washboards

DOUBLE rubbing surface 59c face Washboards, with heavy zinc rubbing surface. (Fifth Floor.)

Ouija Boards

THIS popular talking 95c board is very entertaining, for both old and young. (Fifth Floor.)

Water Tumblers, 6 for

CUT star design, 55c

good, thin-blown, clear glass. (Fifth Floor.)

Fruit Bowls

CUT glass Fruit $1.95

Bowls; floral and combination cutting, on good, clear blanks. (Fifth Floor.)

Filet Net Curtains, Pair

OFFERING a group of $5.85

of Curtains at a very special price. Filet Net Curtains in lace edged styles, in an excellent quality; very effective for any room. Shown in ivory and beige shades. (Sixth Floor.)

Economies in the Downstairs Store

Attractive Skirts

Tailored in the New Spring Styles

Special $4.98

at

SEVERAL hundred Skirts, in the season's smartest styles, including many beautiful wool plaids in striking Spring patterns, also wool velour checks, men's-wear and French serge Skirts.

Tailored as well as more elaborate styles, in both plain and plaided models. Sizes 25 to 31 waist measurement.

To the woman who wishes to practice economy in her Spring purchases, we suggest these Skirts.

Men's Nightshirts

MUSLIN Nightshirts, 85c

cut full. Sizes 15 to 19. (Downstairs Store.)

Women's Union Suits

COMBED cotton 85c

fleece lined, fine ribbed; ankle length; high neck and long sleeves. (Downstairs Store.)

Women's Vests

BODICE top style, 25c

with mercerized shoulder straps; also tailored style in fine ribbed and Swiss ribbed. In pink or white. (Downstairs Store.)

Women's Union Suits

LOW neck, sleeveless 39c

and cuff knee style; with neatly taped at neck and arms. Three for $1.15. (Downstairs Store.)

Women's Vests

CUMFY cut neck 17c

style, in fine ribbed and Swiss ribbed. Regular and extra sizes. Three for 50c. (Downstairs Store.)

Spool Cotton, 7 Spools

"STAR TWIST," in 25c

white, black and colors; 100-yard spools. (Downstairs Store.)

Men's Work Shoes, Pair

CHROME dark tan $2.85

leather Shoes. Strong, serviceable shoes. All sizes. (Downstairs Store.)

Men's Shoes, Pair

SEVERAL hundred $2.25 pairs; excellent quality; all good styles, in black and tan leathers. Sizes up to 7 1/2. (Downstairs Store.)

Men's Union Suits

COTTON ribbed $1.00

Suits; slightly fleeced; ankle length; long sleeves; mostly large sizes. (Downstairs Store.)

Dressing Sacques

PERCALE Dressing 79c

and gray, with small figures. Made in peplum style, with three-quarter length sleeves. Sizes 36 to 46. (Downstairs Store.)

Boys' Corduroy Trousers

MADE of splendid 1.95 quality corduroy; very serviceable. Well made, with all the necessary pockets and belt straps. Sizes 10 to 17. (Downstairs Store.)

Boys' Trousers, Pair

MADE of heavy $1.48

twilled wool cheviots, in neat patterns, with watch

Men's $5.00 Mocha Gloves

Very Specially Priced Tuesday

The quality of these gloves make this offer an extremely important one. Every pair is of the highest grade mocha, thus assuring the maximum in service. Shown in gray with spear-point or black embroidered backs. Sizes from 7 to 10. These very unusual values are offered Tuesday at the special price of.....

$3.45
Main Floor

Famous-Barr Co Fe

Circulating Library Now
Located on Seventh Floor

We Give Eagle Stamps and Redeem Full Books for $2 in Cash or $2.50 in Merchandise—Few Restricted Articles Excepted.

Largest
at Re

One of the Big Features of the February Campaign is This Sale of 4700 Two-Trouser Spring Suits

For Men and Young Men

New 1921 Models of Superfine
Woolen Fabrics—Intended to Retail at

$60, $70, $80 to $90

Choice at

$42

Fabrics Were Purchased From the Special Order
Custom Department of A. B. Kirschbaum & Co. and the Suits Were Made to Our Specifications in the Shops of This Noted Clothing Concern.

Bearing in mind that we purchased about 21,000 yards of highest grade woolen fabrics, in light and medium weights from this prominent maker of men's clothes and had them tailored into the smartest Spring Suits by the same company—you will see the wisdom of selecting your Spring Suit from the assortment and saving quite a few dollars.

When you see these Suits you will note how very closely they resemble custom-tailored garments. The style and splendid appearance is tailored into them and they will render you excellent satisfaction—having two pairs of trousers they will give double service.

Single and double breasted styles for young men and men of mature years. Many styles and patterns, the materials including the following:

Fancy Silk-Mixed Worsteds
Fancy Velour-Finished Cassimeres
Plain blue, green and brown twill Flannels
Worsted pencil stripes in blue, black and brown
Fancy Cheviots in checks, stripes and mixtures
Plain blue Serges in fine weaves
Fancy Scotch Tweeds
Fancy Irish Homespun

Second Floor—Use New 6th or 7th St. Elevators

February Sale of Linens

—is typical of the February campaign in every respect, offering immense quantities of staple and fancy linens at savings which should appeal to even the most economical housewives.

Table Damask

33 Quality, $1.85
Yard.....
Full bleached, all-linen
Table Damask, 70 inches wide.
Limit of five yards to a customer.
Napkins to match, per dozen, $7.45.

$3.95 Table Damask, $2.75

All-linen, full bleached Damask of a good, heavy quality; 70 inches wide, $12.98. Napkins to match, dozen, $8.95.

39c Huck Towels, 29c

All white with Grecian border; hemmed; in size 19x36 inches.

Pillowcases, 85c

Envelope style, with scalloped ends and embroidered; size 43x26 inches.

Tablecloths

Derryvale genuine pure Irish linen double satin Damask Cloths in beautiful round designs.
$18.45 72x72-in. Cloths, $11.95
$21.95 72x90-in. Cloths, $13.95

Fancy Linen Scarfs

French Cluny lace trimmed Scarfs, all-linen, lace and all-linen centers. All size doilies, centerpieces and tea cloths to match scarfs.
$ 5.98 20x34-in. Scarfs, $3.95
$ 6.98 20x43-in. Scarfs, $4.95
$ 7.98 20x52-in. Scarfs, $5.95
$10.98 20x68-in. Scarfs, $7.95

Tablecloths

All-linen, heavy quality bleached Cloths in 72x72-inch size; all are hemmed; limit of two to a customer.
$10.00 Value, $6.55

Bath Towels

69c Quality, 48c
Bleached, double thread, heavy quality Towels with deep pink or blue jacquard borders; size 21x42 inches; limit of six to a customer.

$3.50 Tablecloths, $2.25

Round Cloths with blue or pink colored scalloped edge; 72-inch size.
50c 'Steven's Crash, 29c
All-linen 'Crash Toweling; unbleached and limit of ten yards to a customer.

$10 Napkins, Doz., $6.75

Assorted designs of excellent quality all linen; size 22x22 in.

Madiera Scarfs

Good quality pure linen Scarfs with hand-scalloped edge; hand-somely embroidered in new designs.
$7.50 19x56-inch size, $4.95
$8.75 19x45-inch size, $5.95
$9.95 19x54-inch size, $6.95

$1.69 Table Damask, 98c

Imported mercerized satin finish Damask, 70 inches wide; limit of five yards to a customer.

Bed Sets

$12.50 Value, $8.45
Satin Marseilles spreads with scalloped edge and cut-out corners; size 88x98 inches. Bolster cover to match.

Third Floor—Use New 6th or 7th St. Elevators

Cedar Chests

Offered at

1/2

Only 71 Cedar Chests of our large special purchase remain. At this extreme saving, your selection should be an immediate one. Some are copper trimmed, and all are equipped with casters, back stays, lock and key. The following groups indicate exactly the styles from which you may choose.

10 Cedar Chests: Colonial style; 42-in. long; $33.50 val. $16.75
22 Cedar Chests: plain style; 38-in. long; $23.50 value, $11.75
16 Cedar Chests: plain style; 41-in. long; $33.50 value, $16.75
10 Cedar Chests: Colonial; copper bands; 42-in. long; $37 value, $18.50
7 Cedar Chests: plain style; copper bands; 41 in. long; $41.50 value, $20.75
2 Cedar Chests: plain style; copper trimmed; 44 in. long; $48.00 value, $24.00
4 Cedar Chests: plain style; copper trimmed; 38 in. long; $29.00 value, $14.50

Fifth Floor

Savings Will Be Effected by Women Misses Who Choose

Smartly Style Spring

Offer Two Special

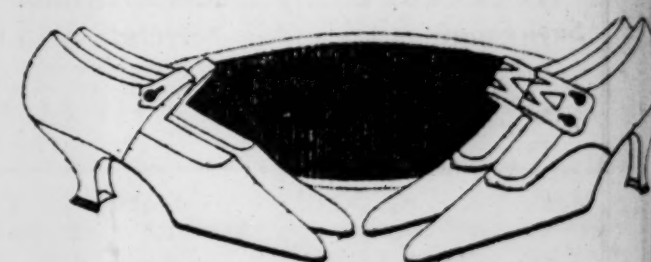

and

The advantage of saving's new Spring Fro especially when choice made from such into the new style ideas mostly.

The Frocks $21

Most of them are and better than those who appreciate smartness of this popular material Spring wear. Beaded and ribbon designs, ribbons and used on the majority of the lines are quite the mode. Sizes 14 to 44.

Continuing the February Sale of Women's

Spring Footwear

Introducing the Latest and Most Correct Fashions in and Offering Savings of an Unusual Nature

No Shoe event so ideally fulfills the mission of a style exposition and economy as does this February Sale. Favorable arrangements with makers enable us to present complete lines of the most desired footwear for special savings. Just two examples of the savings are noted:

Spring Pumps

Should Retail at $14 and $15; Special Pair..... $11.75

Fashionable two-strap Pumps of gray buck and brown or black suede with full Louis heels and turned soles. New York bench made models. Also two-strap Pumps made of white, gray or brown buck. Have covered Cuban heels and welt soles.

Pumps and Oxfords

Should Retail at $10; Special Pair..... $8

Fashionable Spring footwearing the new Strap Pumps and Oxfords of black or brown suede or brown or Russia calf. Have or leather and covered Louis heels and welt soles.

A February Feature Deserving Highest Honor

$50.00 9x12-Ft. Axminster

Specially Priced $3.50
Tuesday at.....

Those who have followed the February campaign will unanimously agree that this is one of the very strongest features presented thus far. Axminster Rugs of this quality have seldom, if ever in the past few years, been offered at Tuesday's price. These Rugs are closely woven with deep, rich heavy pile in the season's choicest Oriental, medallion and conventional patterns. Things are artistic and most any decorative scheme.

Wilton Velvet Rugs

$75.00 Value $46.85

Closely woven, high-grade seamless Rugs, made in a large assortment of beautiful colorings and designs that will give long and satisfactory service. 9x12 size. Choice of medallion, Oriental, Chinese and conventional effects.

$100 Grade

Co February Sales

Largest Distributors of Merchandise at Retail in Missouri or the West.

This Store Is the Exclusive St. Louis Home of the Ampico in the Chickering Piano.

Assorted Nut Brittles

Special, Tuesday Only
A fresh and delicious assortment of Nut Brittles, including black walnut, almond, English walnut, coconut and peanut brittles.
Tuesday, 1b. 34c
Main Floor

Double Eagle Stamps Tuesday

Style Spring Frocks

Offer Two Special Groups at

$1 and $38

Advantage of saving's new Spring Frocks is not to be overlooked, and when choice made from such interesting groups as these, displaying style ideas most

The Frocks at $21
Most of them are hand bel-tews could not be started to who appreciate business his popular material Spring
r. Beaded and corded des, ribbons and lace used on majority of them. Lines quite the most. Sizes
14 to 44.

The Frocks at $38

This group offers choice of a wider variety of materials, including, as it does, Frocks of tricotine, taffeta, crepe de chine, Canton crepe, tricolette and charmeuse—all in the latest styles, with trimmings that give an attractive finish. Navy, black and the new colors. Sizes
14 to 44.

Fourth Floor—Use New Fifth or Seventh Street Elevators

Save From 1/3 to 1/2 on Silk Negligees & Kimonos

Japanese Kimonos

Special
at $25

Beautifully hand embroidered, with elaborate sprays of large roses and tulips; others with groups of flowers, birds and other patterns embroidered on them. Shown in orchid, pink, navy, gray, black and Copen.

Breakfast Coats at $8.95

Of changeable satin. Made with shirred and ruffled flounces, in slip-over and open-front styles, as well as tailored models or Empire effects.
Also crepe de chine ones with embroided collars. Choice of navy, wistaria, maize, light blue, pink, plain and shaded greens and Copen.

Japanese Kimonos $16.50

Of silk; also a few Mandarins of crepe de chine and Jap silk, embroidered in vine and floral designs. Choice of wistaria, rose, black, flame, light blue and pink.
Third Floor

February Furniture Sale

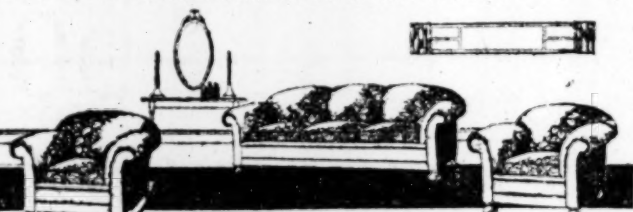

If substantial savings mean anything to St. Louisans this Furniture occasion should easily surpass all records. The February Furniture Sale ranks high as an economy occasion, and for tomorrow, intensive efforts were made to exceed past records of value-giving. Special purchases supplementing our present wonderfully complete stocks, provide an inimitable opportunity to anticipate all Furniture requirements. Deferred payments may be arranged if desired.

$450 Bedroom Suites

Walnut or Mahogany Suites, consisting of 41-inch dresser, chiffonier, bed and dressing table.
Special Tuesday
at $225

$575 Living-Room Suites

Sample line of 3-piece mohair or silk velour Suites, including davenport, chair and rocker.
Overstuffed model with soft spring arms. $350

$275 Living-Room Suites

Solid mahogany 3-piece Cane Suites, in mulberry, blue or taupe velour. Loose cushion with carved medallion back davenport, chair and rocker. $149.50

$600 Bedroom Suites

High-grade walnut Suites in Chippendale period designs. Dustproof throughout. Suites include four pieces, namely bed, dresser, chiffonier and vanity dresser. $295

Davenettes

$175.00 $75
Value...

Full-size "Pullman" Dave-nettes with mahogany and cane frame and velour or damask upholstery.

Davenport Suites

$500.00 $195
Value...

Three-piece overstuffed Pullman Bed Davenport Suites, 6 ft. long. Chair and rocker to match in tapestry or velour.

Davenport Tables

$50.00 $22.50
Value...

William and Mary Davenport Tables; 72 inches long. Made with solid mahogany top.

End Tables

$12.00 $7.95
Value...

Mahogany end Tables in semi-circular style. Have solid mahogany top.

Wing Chairs

$25.00 $15
Value...

Solid mahogany and cane wing Chairs for living rooms or sun parlors.

Couch Beds

$39.75 $25
Value...

Englander Couch Beds, complete with pad. Makes full-size Bed.

Library Tables

$35.00 $19.50
Value...

54-inch Library Tables, in brown mahogany and Queen Anne model. Have one drawer.

Mattresses

$25.00 $15
Value...

Full-size, 45-pound Mattresses filled with silk floss and felt ticking; soiled.

Sofa Tables

$32.00 $29.50
Value...

Queen Anne Tables, suitable for davenport or console table.

Fern Stands

$14.00 $7.85
Value...

Mahogany or fumed oak Fern Stands with galvanized pan inset; William and Mary Period.

$460 3-Piece Suites

Overstuffed Velour Suites in blue tapestry or velour. Have loose spring filled cushions and full spring, edge with soft spring arm. Just 6 suites at this price for Tuesday. $285

$350 Bedroom Suites

Queen Anne Bedroom Suites, made of select wood in choice of American walnut or brown mahogany.
All pieces perfectly matched, dust-proof and of splendid construction. $165

$900 Dining-Room Suites

10-piece walnut or Mahogany Suites in Georgian period; 78-inch buffet, oblong table, china cabinet, serving table, five chairs and one armchair with blue hair-cloth seats. $650

$350 Dining-Room Suites

Walnut Suites in Queen Anne design. Included are 60-inch buffet, dining table, five chairs and one armchair;
special at $195
China Cabinet, $69.50. Serving Table, $47.50
Seventh Floor

Barr's Hard-Water Soap

Which Will Regularly Sell for 12 Bars for $1.50, in This Sale at 12 Bars for 95c

Made especially for us according to a well-tried formula, Barr's Hard-Water Soap answers the most important requisites of a toilet soap, that of purity and cleansing power. It is an ideal Soap for the toilet or bath, being delicately scented and made in a size convenient to fit the hands.

This Soap, at the regular price, represents the fullest value, making the special February sale price absolutely the lowest on a Soap of this high quality. This special price is for a limited time only, and we advise liberal buying. Main Floor

Save on Home Needs

Again we offer to thrifty housewives the substantial savings for which the Housewares Section is noted. Careful attention to the following groups, all specially priced, will no doubt reveal many of the very things you need:

Washing Machines

$23.95 $19.89
Grade.

Famous-Barr special — water-power Washing Machines, well constructed;
large tub, with guaranteed motor.

Washtubs

$1.65 93c
Value.

These are large size
Tubs; made of heavy galvanized iron.

Clothes Wringers

$8.25 $5.89
Grade.

Made with wooden frame, and with guaranteed rubber rolls.

Refrigerators

$44.95 $39.85
Value.

Illinois brand Refrigerator, golden oak finish,
with white enameled protection chamber, about 125-
lb. capacity; side door, nickel-plated hardware.

$14.50 Wash Bench; guaranteed rubber rolls; 11-inch size. $12.05
$7.35 Dutch Ovens; Griswold make; No. 12 size. $5.44
$8.65 Ash Cans; of heavy corrugated galvanized iron. $3.79
$6.95 Casseroles; with 8-inch fireproof inset. $4.19
$7.50 Laundry Stoves; two-hole; of heavy cast iron. $4.74
85c Washboards; full size; well made. 35c
$9.50 Stove Ovens; one burner; Griswold make. $5.85
$3.50 Electric Iron; 6½-lb. size; nickel-plated. $3.85
$5.00 Star Vibrators; with three applicators. $2.85
$1.25 Two-Way Electric Plugs; Benjamin. 85c
White Flyer Soap; large size cake; only 10 bars to a customer; 10 bars 49c
No phone or mail orders accepted on Soap. Basement Gallery

Silk Shirts

Made to Retail at $6 to $10

Special
Extra... $4.88

2440 rich looking Shirts were especially purchased for this unusual event. Every one is perfectly made, cut full and roomy, and made by prominent manufacturers. All are finished to meet the requirements of the most particular men. The savings afforded will surprise and delight you.

Of heavy satin stripe crepe, radium silk, satin stripe ray silk, white jersey, white crepe and Shantung silk shirts with collars to match. Wide range of attractive color patterns. Non-shrinkable neck bands. All sizes from 14 to 17.

Fiber Shirts.

$3 to $4.50 $2.35
Values...

Choice of light or dark colorings in all-over, stripe and conventional color combinations; soft turnback cuffs. Have a luster like silk and will give splendid wear. Will launder perfectly. All sizes from 14 to 17.

Cotton Shirts

$1.65 to $3 $1.39
Values...

Included are Russian and corded madras, jacquard madras, jersey cloth and cotton crepe patterns in various colors. Sizes 14 to 17.

Cotton Shirts

Special 95c
at

Made of percale in the new Spring patterns.
Finished with soft turnback cuffs. Various colorings. All sizes from 14 to 17.
Basement Economy Store

2-Ft. Axminster Rugs

Priced $3.50
t.....

Rugs

Wilton Rugs

$100 to $110 $74.65
Grades.....

Rugs, made in of Seamed and seamless kinds, some with fringed ends.
ful colorings and made of the best quality yarns in reproductions of the tory service. 9x12- Persian Rugs. Size 9x12-ft., in rich, beauti-Chinese and conv patterns and colorings.

Fifth Floor

MISS RAMBEAU STARS IN THRILLING DRAMA

Exciting Complications in "The Sign on the Door," Well Played at Jefferson.

A cannily constructed melodrama, skilfully acted, is "The Sign on the Door," a new play by Channing Pollock, as presented last night at the Shubert-Jefferson Theater, with Marjorie Rambeau illustrating how an emotional part may be played without becoming hectic. The audience was moderate in size, but more than once it was moved to that rare phenomenon in the theater—an outburst of spontaneous applause.

A prologue is placed in a private supper room at the Cafe Mazarin, New York, and thither comes Frank Devereaux, a wealthy young Louisiana, with his father's unsophisticated stenographer, Ann Hunniwell, who hails from Dayton, O. The waiter who serves them makes an excuse to send Devereaux out of the room, and warns the girl as to what sort of a place she has blundered into. Before she can escape, policemen raid the resort. A newspaper photographer takes a flashlight of the scene, and Devereaux buys the negative from him. The couple are arraigned on a disreputable charge. Devereaux gives assumed names and bail, and they jump the bond.

It is five years later when the first act opens. Ann Hunniwell has become Mrs. "Lafe" Regan, wife of a militant Westerner who has no mollycoddle sentiments about bloodshed, and whose chivalry towards women is combined with a rigorous sense as to what things are unforgivable in feminine conduct. Ann has never told him of the incident at the Cafe Mazarin.

Regan is a widower, and has a daughter, Helen, by his former marriage. Devereaux turns up, with designs on Helen, and hypnotizes her into promising to visit him at his apartment. Mrs. Regan learns of the plot, and Devereaux offers her the alternative of keeping her hands off or being betrayed to her husband, by means of the photograph.

Hides in the Bedroom. Mrs. Regan cannot consent to save herself at the expense of her stepdaughter, and hastens to Devereaux's apartment. While she is pleading with him, Regan himself arrives, to compel Devereaux to leave town, on account of his escapades with the wife of an army officer, who has returned from France to kill him. Mrs. Regan hides in the bedroom.

Devereaux suddenly draws a revolver; Regan seizes it and shoots him. With the utmost sangfroid, the Westerner seizes every sign of the struggle, wipes away all finger prints, puts the revolver in the dead man's hand and pins on the door a sign reading, "Don't Disturb Me," which Devereaux, having printed in preparation for the rendezvous with Helen. Then Regan departs.

His wife, who has beheld the tragedy, enters with but one thought—to save her husband by taking the guilt upon herself. She overturns a table and sweeps the articles upon another to the floor. Then, taking the revolver from the telephone, she cries: "Don't, Mr. Devereaux!" She fires two shots, and as men burst in the door, tears her dress from her shoulder. "He attacked me and I killed him," she confesses.

Each Declares Other's Innocence. In the final act District Attorney Whiting is conducting an investigation. Regan is brought in, and is astounded to find his wife pleading guilty to the killing he had done. There ensues a contest between the two, each declaring the innocence of the other. The presence of the sign on the door, which does not jibe with Mrs. Regan's story, puzzles the official; but one of them is convinced she was the murderer when the tell-tale photograph is found.

It is at that moment that the District Attorney electrifies everyone by revealing that he was the waiter at the Cafe Mazarin on the night of the prologue, he having adopted that disguise to get evidence.

Regan and his wife are reconciled, and the former is assured by the District Attorney that a plea of self-defense will no doubt clear him. Helen did not keep the engagement after all.

Miss Rambeau, who is an actress of restraint and earnestness, makes the most of the several effective situations accorded her by the dramatist, playing with tenderness, humor, womanliness and strength. A bit of portrayal which won applause on its own account was Robert Altman's Ferguson, Devereaux's valet. Others deserving much praise are Harry McInture as the fascinating Devereaux, Lee Baker as the saturnine "Lafe" Regan, and Harold Sutter as the waiter and then as the District Attorney. The piece is acceptably mounted.

Borden's
EVAPORATED MILK
Makes rich gravies, white sauce, baked and creamed dishes. The milk for every use.
With the cream left in.

Mother Goose Tuesday Specials

The Mother Goose Tea Room is a charming place for informal visits with your friends. Telephone a guest or two to meet you there on your next trip downtown and spend a delightful half hour in social chatter across the luncheon table.

Tutti Frutti Layer Cake

Two plump layers bursting with delicious chopped fruits and covered with a rich fondant cream icing studded with assorted fruits. A treat for an occasion.

50c Each
Chocolate Covered
Molasses Chips

Facinating tidbits of honey-comb molasses, rich in creamers, butter, packed full with fresh-ground Spanish peanuts and nestled in a shell of pure chocolate. Each piece invites another.

40c Full Pound

MOTHER GOOSE SHOP
OLIVE AT SEVENTH

ADVERTISEMENT

Dandruff Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Apply Zemo, the Clean, Antiseptic Liquid—Easy to Use—Does Not Stain.

Greasy salves and ointments should not be applied if good clear skin is wanted. From any druggist for 50c, or $1.00 for large size, get a bottle of Zemo. When applied as directed it effectively removes eczema, quickly stops itching, and heals skin troubles, also sores, burns, wounds and chafing. It penetrates, cleanses and soothes. Zemo is a clean, dependable and inexpensive antiseptic liquid. Try it, as we believe nothing you have ever used is as effective and satisfying.

The E. W. Roe Co., Cleveland, O.

ADVERTISEMENT

FOR BURNING ECZEMA

Apply Zemo, the Clean, Antiseptic Liquid—Easy to Use—Does Not Stain.

Greasy salves and ointments should not be applied if good clear skin is wanted. From any druggist for 50c, or $1.00 for large size, get a bottle of Zemo. When applied as directed it effectively removes eczema, quickly stops itching, and heals skin troubles, also sores, burns, wounds and chafing. It penetrates, cleanses and soothes. Zemo is a clean, dependable and inexpensive antiseptic liquid. Try it, as we believe nothing you have ever used is as effective and satisfying.

The E. W. Roe Co., Cleveland, O.

BURTON CLOTHES

720 OLIVE ST., 2d Floor

Advance Sale of Summer Suits

Buy One Now. Save $5 to $10

Genuine Palm Beach Suits
Mohair and Cool Cloth Suits
ALL AT ONE PRICE!

All colors—light and dark, patterns—all sizes, including a big assortment for stout men.

A Small Deposit Will Hold the Goods for You

This label in every Suit is your GUARANTEE.

$10.90

$12 and $15 White Flannel Pants $4.90
Imported materials—the most marvelous values we have ever presented; all sizes.

$45 Silk Suits $18.50
Of finest quality; all sizes.

200 Palm Beach and Cool Cloth Suits $6.90
Carried over from last season; broken lots, but all sizes in the lots; $15.00 values.

Take Elevator or Stairway

BURTON CLOTHES

Take Elevator or Stairway

720 OLIVE ST., 2d Floor

Sensenbrenner's

SIXTH AND ST. CHARLES

Choice-of-the-House Sale of All Remaining Winter Stock

DRESSES

Values to $25

$8.00

- 34 Velvetene
- 19 Velours
- 4 Wool Jerseys
- 10 Tricotines
- 25 Serges
- 26 Tricorettes
- 10 Georgettes
- 5 Satins

50 WAISTS

$7.50 values $3.50
$6.95 values
$5.00 values

75 WAISTS

$15.00 values $5.00
$12.50 values
$10.00 values

CLOTH COATS

- 3 Coats, were $75.00
- 9 Coats, were $65.00
- 8 Coats, were $55.00
- 15 Coats, were $50.00
- 27 Coats, were $45.00
- 19 Coats, were $40.00
- 23 Coats, were $35.00

PLUSH COATS

- 2 Coats, were $95.00
- 8 Coats, were $75.00
- 4 Coats, were $65.00
- 6 Coats, were $55.00
- 4 Coats, were $45.00

SUITS

- 1 Suit, was $75.00
- 3 Suits, were $65.00
- 6 Suits, were $55.00
- 8 Suits, were $50.00
- 5 Suits, were $45.00
- 7 Suits, were $40.00
- 10 Suits, were $35.00

DRESSES

- 4 Dresses, were $75.00
- 3 Dresses, were $65.00
- 5 Dresses, were $55.00
- 15 Dresses, were $45.00
- 4 Dresses, were $35.00

The fur collars on many of the coats are alone worth more than the price we ask for the entire coat

$17

No Returns
No Exchanges

LITTLE Boy Blue
With cheeks of red
Keep blowing your horn
About Bond Bread.

Little Boy Blue
"blew" about
Bond Bread

PERHAPS, the Little Boy Blue of olden days ate the wrong kind of food. Maybe that's why he fell asleep under the hay-cock, when his daddy asked him to get the cows out of the corn.

Nowadays most Little Boy Blues are wide-awake because their mothers see that they get plenty of good Bond Bread and milk.

AND they boast about Bond Bread, because they like it—even if it is good for them.

It doesn't matter what we say about the purity of Bond Bread and how it gets its name from the Bond which is printed on each wrapper and which lists its pure ingredients.

NO—it is what the eaters say—those many Boys who keep "blowing their horns" about Bond Bread—heralding each step of its forward march into the hearts of the modern Jack Horners, Miss Muffets, and all their Fairy Godmothers.

Bond Bread
General Baking Company

Final Price-Cut on All

J & M TRADE MARK.

Shoes (Oxfords Included)
for Men

JOHNSTON & MURPHY—the finest shoes made for men—here they are at the price of just ordinarily good shoes. Isn't this what you've been waiting for—you men who wear fine shoes and who have been making your old shoes do for so long?

Your pick of our J & M

High Shoes and Oxfords

formerly $19 to $22, now reduced for final clearance to $14.45

Choice of all styles and all leathers, tan and black kangaroo included. A complete size-range in many of the lines. And Hutcheson fitting to make the assurance of satisfaction doubly sure.

Hutcheson's

The Shoe Store for Men
712 Olive Street

Don't be
"prissy" wise and proud foolish—you can't buy quality for less.

FATIMA CIGARETTES

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Nothing else will do"

DOROTHY DICKSON
NEW FILM BEAUTY

Uniformly Interesting Offerings on This Week's Local Movie Bills.

Dorothy Dickson, dancer, makes her screen debut in "Paying the Piper," a sumptuous production which opened at the Missouri Theater yesterday. Alma Tell also is seen for the first time in an important role in this picture.

The settings, photography and costumes are elaborate, but the plot is comparatively simple. It has "triangle" possibilities, but these are not worked out to their logical conclusion and the difference between the way the picture is presented here and the critical notices of its Eastern production show that it has been tampered with somewhat in line with current ideas of film propriety. There still remains one very suggestive episode showing that the love of a young architect, temporarily quartered in a rich man's home, is not unrequited by the daughter of the house, though she is engaged to another.

The architect marries an actress, and the rich girl marries a man as rich as herself. Then there is a Wall street panic and the rich become poor. They are taken in by the architect and his wife and they all live happily, either because of, or in spite of, the fact that all along the architect has loved the rich man's wife and the architect's wife has loved the rich man. Both Miss Dickson and Miss Tell are beautiful and the cast is well balanced.

Constance Talmage in Clean Comedy. "Mamma's Affair," which opened yesterday at the New Grand Central, establishes two propositions: First, that good pictures are possible without either stupendous scenic effects or great expenditure; and, that a genuine theme is of more value to a successful production than all the studio devices combined.

Here is a picture the sparkling humor of which is not marred by a single slapstick incident; in which there is a poignant love theme unsullied by a trace of filth; yet which, without, certainly was produced at a very modest cost. Without notable scenic effects, without aid of the most elaborate special effects, the picture is a masterpiece of imagination at the very start, and does not relinquish it until the end.

If good screen stories were the rule, a good word could still be said for this fine, clean story. But, when they are exceptions, as is now the case, it is hard to say enough in praise of "Mamma's Affair." The action proceeds naturally and facilities. There is always cohesion and continuity of interest. There is no demand on credulity, and no appeal to maudlin sentimentality.

The story, adapted by John Emerson and Anita Loos from the stage version, is simple enough. It deals with the more or less humorous vicissitudes of a girl whose mother is a chronic and willing victim of hysteria, until a young physician prescribes a good shaking for her. That ends the hysteria. Also, ends the "affair" which mamma has planned for the daughter.

Constance Talmage plays the role of the daughter with consummate brilliance, and the entire cast is splendidly chosen. It would take an exacting critic to pick a flaw in this picture. As for the writer, he has not seen a better film since "Why Change Your Wife," which it excels in numerous respects.

Pearl White in Adventure Film. "Those Who Live with a Kick in the Liberty," On the program are a Pearl White feature, a William J. Flynn detective story and a Fantomas serial, all crowded with weird and nerve-rattling adventure. Miss White's offering, "The Mountain Woman," is a sort of sublimation of all those qualities which made her the serial queen. She has the role of a girl who was reared as a boy. She rides a log raft, knocks presumably strong men right and left and does other remarkable stunts.

She is kidnapped by villainous robbers, but fights her way from them, rescues a rich New Yorker from a burning hotel, avenges the slaying of her father and for a climax saves the man she loves from a grizzly which the villain has set on fire. The making of this and the other two features on the Liberty bill must have used up most of the visible supply of blank ammunition.

Good Underworld Picture at Delmonte.

In "The Bolt," the Maurice Tourneur picture which is the offering at the Delmonte the first half of this week Hope Hampton appears as the star in an excellent and interesting story of the underworld. The photography is of a high order and the plot, while rather improbable, is reasonable enough and at all times holds the audience. While it is a crime picture it is not at all of the objectionable crime type. The drama begins with what would ordinarily be the ending of a movie play. Without any introduction of the characters or the story, the audience sees a murder committed and the arrest of a young girl charged with the crime. The girl (Miss Hampton) begs the police to allow her to tell her story before she is taken away, and what she tells is shown in the succeeding pictures. The scenes jump from New York to Paris and back again, and tell of a young shop girl who fell into the hands of a gang of international swindlers who made her appear as a thief in an effort to get her in their clutches. Her life in their hands and her escape through the love of a man she meets in Paris and the help of an "honest old gambler" is well told.

Stops Toothache Instantly
DENT'S
Toothache Gum

SEND YOUR WEEKLY WASH
TO THIS
Broadway Laundry
FOR QUALITY SERVICE
SIDNEY 1501 VICTOR 1629

Clear Baby's Skin
With Cuticura
Soap and Talcum

DISCUSS FREE! ALL FOOT ILLS.
Correctives for calluses, corns, bunions,
Medical department for numb, swollen, pneumatic feet.
Tuesday, Wednesday, Saturday, 9 to 6. Sunday, 2 to 5.
Liberator Foot Inst. 3723 Olive, Lin. 2498
3723 Olive, Lin. 2498

606-608 Washington Av
Thru to Sixth Street

Kline's

The Latest Fad of New York!

Mignonette Frocks

Every Dress a Wonderful Value
$29.75

Worth Many Dollars More

Also Beautiful Taffetas, Canton Crepes and Crepe de Chines

Dame Fashion says, "Mignonette Frocks for Spring." And now, at the very beginning of the season, an extremely fortunate purchase enables us to offer them much under price. Every Dress brand-new, in styles of pronounced individuality, showing newest trimming expressions for Spring, and in every favored color. Values that we believe it will be impossible to duplicate later.

$39.50

Spring SUITS

Values to $75—Two Groups:

$39.50 $49.00

Two wonderful groups of new Spring Suits that offer the utmost in value-giving, brought about through special purchases. Every Suit in these collections, which include many one-of-a-kind "sample" garments, typifies all that's new and proper for Spring. Trim tailormades, as well as elaborate dressy styles, in favored materials of twill cords, tricotines, Poiré twills, piquettes, piquet twills, tweeds and velour checks.

Kline's—Third Floor

Manufacturers' Surplus Stock Sale of 1000 Trimmed and Ready-to-Wear Hats

Regular $5.00 to $8.50 Values

THINK OF IT—1000 beautiful Spring Hats, in every desirable shape of the season, and in all colors, for only TWO DOLLARS EACH. And you'll marvel still more when you see them. They represent Hats that were almost given to us by a maker in need of ready cash. This is the result. Colors are henna, cherry red, pheasant, Copen, brown, navy, gray and black. Be here when the doors open for these marvelous values.

Hats of Georgette Hats of Silk Hats of All-Straw Hats of Crepe de Chine Straw and Fabric Hats Banded Straw Sailors

NOTE—Owing to the Ridiculous Price, None Will Be Delivered—A Limit of Two to a Customer—No Exchanges—No Mail or Phone Orders Filled—No C. O. D.'s. Extra Salespeople Will Be in Attendance.

Spring COATS

Complete Assortments Now on Display

The new Coats and Wraps present themselves in the softest and silkiest of Bolivians, suede velours, tricotines, velvetyne, silvertips and polo cloths. New color tones and smart, new silver and gold trimming effects, as well as new braided designs are presented in wide variety. Short sports lengths, three-quarter lengths and full-length models. Assortments and values without a peer in the city, ranging in price from $35 $50 $85

And Up to $350

Kline's—Third Floor

$4.95

Spring WAISTS

Specially Purchased
New Spring Waists
That Present Wonderful Values at.....

$4.95

Dainty New Spring Waists of Georgette, tricotette, satin, crepe de chine, pongee and striped silks. Colors embrace the new tomato shade, honeydew, neptune, orchid, dawn blue, bisque and others, as well as flesh and white. Russian blouse, hip-length, tie-on and tailored models. Extraordinary values at $4.95.

Kline's—Main Floor

Dresses

Much Less Than Cost of Materials

$10

A limited number of tricotette, satin, etc. To close out, $10.

Kline's—Fourth Floor

It W
G. H. Walker
Cup Event O
To All Na

Annual International Along Lines Similar to Cup Planned.

CONDITIONS ANNOUNCED

First Competition Will Next September on Links of U. S.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.

longer will monopolize the national tournament field. Walker of St. Louis, Dwight Davis of Davis, also of St. Louis, started when he announced the last night to govern the Walker golf trophy, the international championship lines almost similar to the competition.

The same nations eligible for the Davis Cup are eligible for the Walker trophy, the major British country as separate countries for purposes.

After the first title will be held on the National Links of U. S. elimination rounds will be between teams nominated by the Davis Cup event.

The conditions, as last night, specifically all details of the tournament principal features of the tournament follow:

The competition shall be the International Golf tournament and shall be organized and shall be a recognized association, the regulations, the British South Africa, Canada, Sweden and Norway and States of America, shall others, be regarded as nations.

In case of dispute between associations as to who shall be recognized association, the Executive Committee of U. S. G. A. will be final.

The competition shall be under the rules of the tournament. The management of the tournament shall be entrusted to the committee, hereafter termed the Committee of Management, which shall be appointed annually by the Association or corresponding organization of the nation.

Any nation wishing shall give notice to the of the Golf Association, champion nation, so that reach him not later than the Monday in March, in which the competition place. Should more than one nation in the challenge, they shall among themselves for the play the champion national challenge round.

Only amateurs shall represent a nation if he been born in that nation have resided therein five years immediately his selection to represent that nation provided always bona fide amateurs shall be entitled to play than one nation in the tournament during the same year.

For each match a referee whose decision there shall be final. The referee shall be appointed by the non consent of the competing sides. He shall power to appoint umpires. (A) Each competition shall, 21 days before the for the commencement of the tournament, the Committee of Management not more players and two substitutes shall represent the competition.

(b) Each captain shall before the time fixed for the commencement of play in a name the four players to him as his team. (c) For the second matches, the Committee of Management may sanction the substitution of another player named as a substitute, unavoidable accident.

Title Must Be Defended. The first competition shall be at the National Golf Links in a week (to be September, 1931).

The champion nation annually if called upon. After the year 1931 the an elimination competition which shall be a country of the champion which competition shall be named as a substitute, unavoidable accident.

The team of that nation the greatest number of points in the competition shall be a challenging team. All matches shall be and in computing point system shall be used.

One point to winner one point to the winner. In championship competition, play should be as follows: day, foursomes; second matches; third, fourth day, single matches; each competitor of the team shall meet each of the champion nation.

The Executive Committee of U. S. G. A. is specifically to pay the expenses of representing the United States in all matches (including entrance) for this competition.

Hoovers Tie. The Hoovers played Brown to a 2-2 draw same yesterday in the 1st League at Federal. In the other (the Vee the Hamilton-Brown.

SWEEP SALE OF THE FORMER PRICES

Hand-Tailored ITS
Up to $60
AT AWAY AT

chic, tweeds, the materials of the young men-made to the minute. You don't know it's missing by not in this wonderful offer, tomorrow.

N'S $4.00
PANTS
$1.45

It has been a long time since strong, serviceable, work pants have been sold at this price as low as this. These are made of excellent quality materials, in an assortment of dark shades, and all are strongly sewed to withstand the hardest wear. All sizes from 32 to 44.

$10.00 PANTS
sleevets, waists and in almost every time, and no better than this. These are made of the best material, and are strongly sewed to withstand the hardest wear. All sizes from 32 to 44.

$3.95
Boys' Neat $1.95 Knickers

A special lot of Boys' Knickers, made of excellent materials, and are strongly sewed to withstand the hardest wear. All sizes from 32 to 44.

75c
Everything Co. 6th and Washington

BLISS
NATIVE
HERBS
Stipitation & Kidneys
RUMATISM
VOUSNESS

OR HART FORMING DRUGS, HERBS & BARKS ONLY. GUARANTEE TO TACKLE NOT.

BLISS MEDICAL CO.
WASHINGTON, D. C.

why?
A man at sixty years of age is either a failure or a success. BEECHAM'S PILLS have been made for sixty years and have the largest sale of any in the world!

BEECHAM'S PILLS
In London, 1825

Sunday Post-Dispatch Advertisers Receive
100 PER CENT MORE CITY CIRCULATION than those in the OTHER ST. LOUIS NEWSPAPER.

PART TWO.

HARVARD REPORTS NEW X-RAYS TO ALLEVIATE CANCER

Discovery of Professor William Duane to Be Used First Time on Cancer in America.

NEW BUILDING FOR EXPERIMENTS

Professor Declares That Rays Are Obtained That Have as Good Effect as Gamma Rays of Radium.

By the Associated Press. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 13.—Discoveries made by William Duane, professor of biophysics at Harvard, working in collaboration with research students of physics, have made it possible, according to Harvard physicists, to secure X-rays of more penetrating quality than have ever before been obtained in this country, and these new rays are now to be used for the first time in America for the alleviation of cancer.

While it is emphatically stated by Prof. Duane that neither X-rays nor radium should be considered a permanent cure for all kinds of cancer, it has been long known that radium has a marked alleviative effect upon this disease, and the Harvard physicists have reason to believe that the effects of the new highly penetrating X-rays will be equally beneficial.

New Building for Experiments. The Harvard Cancer Commission is erecting a new building in Boston, where an X-ray plant will be installed as well as the commission's radium plant. Confident that the prolonged life insurance companies of Boston have given more than $30,000 toward the new building, here the experiments will be performed which will test the value of the newly discovered type of X-rays. How effective they will prove cannot be determined until they have been used for some time.

Prof. Duane was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1892 and also from Harvard in 1892. He took his doctor's degree at Berlin in 1895, worked for many years in the Curie radium laboratory at Paris, and came to Harvard in 1913 as assistant professor of physics and research fellow of the Cancer Commission. In 1917 he was promoted to a new full professorship of biophysics.

Statement on Discovery. The significance of the discovery was explained in the following statement made for the Associated Press at Harvard:

"The advantage of X-ray over radium is that the latter is scarce and immensely expensive, costing at present over $100,000 a gram, and can, therefore, only be used in small quantities. If X-rays are used it would be possible to make the rays enormously more powerful than has been possible with the limited amount of radium available. The trouble with the use of X-rays up to this time has been that they are not as penetrating as the so-called 'gamma rays' of radium, and the problem of the Harvard physicists has been to secure this quality."

"It was known that to secure penetration it was necessary to secure a high frequency of vibration. The Harvard physicists, after a great number of experiments at length, found that a physical law known as the 'quantum law,' applied to the X-ray spectrum, and discovered that they could increase the frequency of the rays and thus their penetration, by increasing the voltage of current used in the X-ray tube."

"Prof. Duane reports that the tube goes to pieces under a voltage of more than 150,000 volts, but that a sufficiently high voltage has been secured to make the X-rays very nearly as effective for certain medical purposes as the gamma rays of radium."

Rays Used by Germans. "The Germans, it is said, have made great headway recently with the use of high frequency of X-rays in alleviating cancer, but these particular rays have not been used in America up to this time."

"A vast amount of work has recently been done by Prof. Duane in the detailed study of X-ray spectra. Some of this work may prove effective in increasing the medical value of X-rays, but much of it is being done simply with the scientific purpose of getting to know more about the mysterious rays said the laws govern them."

"Long continued exposure to X-rays is so dangerous to the operator that the greatest concern has been to protect him from them. In the Jefferson physical laboratory at Harvard, where Prof. Duane makes his experiments, the X-ray plant is kept in a room by itself and

U. S. OCCUPATION ESSENTIAL TO TRANQUILLITY OF HAITI, ADMIRAL KNAPP REPORTS

So-Called Republic Is Really a Land Controlled by Tyrannical Oligarchy Needing Constant Watching, He Says.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels gave out last night a report by Rear Admiral U. S. Knapp expressing the conviction that "the maintenance of tranquillity and security in Haiti is still absolutely dependent upon the presence of the United States forces of occupation." Admiral Knapp recently returned after a four months' investigation of conditions in Haiti, made for the State and Navy Departments.

The real object of the agitation against the American military occupation, according to the Admiral, has been to secure abrogation of the treaty which the United States and the return to the Haitians of the unrestricted management of their public affairs. Treaty abrogation he regards as "out of the question."

"Could this be attained," says Admiral Knapp, "I think that 999 Haitians out of 1000 would be glad to see the American forces of occupation remain to enforce good order. In other words, the worst agitators among them, would be willing to have the United States act the part of a policeman and leave them to their own devices." He may state my conviction that the agitation that is going on is done by less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of the Haitian people.

2000 to 2500 Agitators. "Estimating the population of Haiti at from 2,000,000 to 2,500,000, this would mean that the agitators are from 2000 to 2500 in number. The figure is a very conservative one, and the Admiral has been reported to me that Haitians themselves have said that only between 300 and 400 of Haitian people agitators against the United States."

The report states that it is not freedom which is sought by the agitators, but license that will enable them to pursue in the old manner, where public office was a recognized opportunity of private enrichment. Continuing, the report says: "Admitting for argument's sake that each of the agitators estimated above as one-tenth of 1 per cent of the total population, speaks with the unspoken sympathy of 50 others, we arrive at five per cent of the total population as the number in whose interest in any way the agitation is being conducted. I believe this to be a greatly exaggerated figure. This leads to the question: What about the interests of the 95 per cent of the population who are not agitators? The five per cent to be gratified."

"The answer, to my mind, is plain: the 95 per cent would be exploited for the dishonest benefit of the five per cent. The 95 per cent would enjoy less real freedom than they do now, for the combined effect of the treaty and the occupation protects them from the harpies of their own race."

Effect of Withdrawal. "Should the United States, having put its hand to the plow, now look back and withdraw, leaving these people (the political agitators) to their own devices, it would be tantamount to a declaration of war against the United States."

Tranquillity in Haiti. "Tranquillity and security now exist in Haiti practically throughout the country. Now and again one hears of robberies, as one does in New York City and other places in the United States, but these small affairs no more broken any general conditions in Haiti than they do in the United States."

The gendarmerie is a fine institution under its present direction. It is confining its activities within its legitimate scope, that of the police agency of Haiti. It is increasing in number and its personnel are more and more becoming professional. The standards that its American personnel are endeavoring to inculcate, it is to be hoped, will be maintained with the exception of a few American officers, the personnel of the gendarmerie comes from the Haitian people, and its individual traditions have entered it with the traditions under which they have grown to manhood. Those traditions were traditions of graft and of the right to take forcibly what places in the country one needs if one is in a position of governmental authority. These traditions must be eradicated and the new standards inculcated. To do this requires time, and not the mere placing of the rank and file in a uniform."

American representation in the settlement of the reparations problem. PARIS, Feb. 14.—Carl Bergman, German Undersecretary of the Treasury and head of that country's mission on reparations, arrived here yesterday with an official communication from the German Government.

SULTAN'S ENVOY DESERTS HIM. By the Associated Press. CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 14.—The Sultan Saturday received a telegram from Izet Pasha, who was sent to Ankara in December by the Sultan to endeavor to negotiate an agreement with the Turkish Nationalists, in which Izet said he had joined the Nationalists. "All are deserting," exclaimed the Sultan, regarding the Nationalists, in regard to Southern representation in the Cabinet.

The President-elect yesterday saw Senator McCormick of Illinois in regard to foreign affairs and Senator McNary of Oregon relative to a program for Western reclamation. He also had a long talk with A. S. Hough, chairman of the Jackson Times-Union, about plans for a world peace association and said afterward he was much impressed by Hough's recommendations.

HARDING TO PLEAD FOR CONFIDENCE IN INAUGURAL SPEECH

New Executive to Ask That the Nation Forget Animosities and Partisanship of After-War Period.

MESSAGE PROBABLY WILL BE BRIEF

No Attempt at Discussion of Any of the Problems Awaiting Solution Likely, It Is Understood.

By the Associated Press. ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 14.—A plea that the nation forget the animosities and partisanship of the after-war period and put its shoulder unflinchingly to the wheel of reconstruction is expected to form the keynote of Warren G. Harding's message to his fellow countrymen when he comes into the presidency. Although the inaugural address is far from complete, it was learned today that considerable work had been done toward its preparation and the subjects it is to cover virtually had been selected. It is understood that a very brief and will attempt no detailed discussion of any of the problems awaiting solution. One of the outstanding features is expected to be an appeal for confidence in the new administration. It will be linked with an assurance that during the next four years the administration will keep away from meddling methods in its relations with the business world.

To Outline Tax Policy. Detailed statement of a taxation policy, however, is to be reserved until after the inauguration. It is believed Mr. Harding's address will touch very briefly on the question of an international peace conference and will place the incoming administration to its best effort to secure a peace agreement compatible with American aspirations. There is expected also to be a word of friendship to Mexico and the rest of Latin America.

Most of the real work of putting his ideas into action probably will not be done until next week. A heavy appointment list during the next few days and by Saturday will have heard the advice of several prominent persons. Including Charles Evans Hughes, generally understood to be the prospective Secretary of State, Hughes is expected to reach St. Augustine Friday or Saturday.

Statement as to Cabinet. Although several decisions remain to be made in regard to Cabinet selection, President-elect Harding is confident the problem will be solved in a way acceptable to all elements of his party. Commenting yesterday on reports of serious friction among Republican leaders, the President-elect declared he knew of no feeling over the Cabinet question which did not grow out of the normal and proper activities of the friends of the President-elect.

He said he was satisfied the whole situation was tending to a happy solution. Mr. Harding mentioned no names, and did not refer directly to published stories that some Republican Senators had vigorously opposed certain tentative selections. He said, however, that he was encountering more delay than he had expected in completing his Cabinet slate.

One of the movements which has taken on greater proportions recently is that for selection of a Southern Republican to the Cabinet. The President-elect said he had received many petitions in support of Representative Siemp of Virginia, and several others from Southern states, but regarded these as more personal than sectional in their nature. He would throw no light on his intentions in regard to Southern representation in the Cabinet.

The President-elect yesterday saw Senator McCormick of Illinois in regard to foreign affairs and Senator McNary of Oregon relative to a program for Western reclamation. He also had a long talk with A. S. Hough, chairman of the Jackson Times-Union, about plans for a world peace association and said afterward he was much impressed by Hough's recommendations.

Peace Association Discussed. Senator McCormick, who recently made a trip abroad, is understood to have assured the President-elect that the European nations stood ready to follow the lead of the United States in the formulation of a new basis for world peace.

In connection with the visit of Senator McNary, it was learned that Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, a Democrat, who was defeated for reelection, is under consideration for one of the Democratic places in the Shipping Board.

POPE CONFERS DECORATIONS ON EIGHT AMERICANS

Archbishop Dougherty of Philadelphia to Be Named at Secret Consistory Early in March.

By the Associated Press. ROME, Feb. 14.—Pope Benedict yesterday conferred the decoration of Knight of the Order of St. Gregory the Great on James McGraw of Oklahoma, Edward W. Buckley, St. Paul, Minn.; Daniel Callahan, Washington; Martin H. Connelley, Grand Rapids, Mich.; William Dwyer, St. Paul, Minn.; William McGinley, New York; Joseph Scott, Los Angeles, and Count Deregala of Mexico.

The decoration of Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great was given to Joseph C. Pelletier of Boston.

Pope Benedict also appointed Patrick Francis Marion of Asheville, N. C.; the Very Rev. Philip S. Garand of Ogdensburg, N. Y.; the Rev. John F. Glavin, the Rev. John T. Slattery and the Rev. Michael J. Looney of Albany, N. Y., and the Very Rev. T. L. Harmer, the Very Rev. G. T. Brady and the Rev. M. K. Norton of Dubuque, Ia., to be his domestic prelates.

One Cardinal to Be Made. The Vatican announced officially that the Most Rev. Dennis J. Dougherty, Archbishop of Philadelphia, would be created a Cardinal at the secret consistory to be held early in March.

Monsignor Dougherty will be the only new American Cardinal named at the next consistory. Archbishop Mundelein of Chicago and Archbishop Hayes of New York, although they probably will receive the red hat before long, will not be included in the appointments in March, even as Cardinals reserved in pectore, as the pontiff generally has recourse to this system only when there are weighty reasons not to publish immediately the creation of certain Cardinals.

Explanation of the fact that during the coming consistory no new Cardinals residing in Rome are to be created may be found in the high cost of living, it is said, at the Vatican. All members of the sacred college who are attached to the Curia receive 22,000 lire per year from the papal revenues, and there is some hesitancy in adding to the burden at the present time.

Salaries Fixed in 1851. The salaries received by Cardinals were fixed in 1851, when it was possible to lease a sumptuous apartment in this city for 1800 lire, but at present even a moderately comfortable dwelling place cannot be rented less than 18,000. A number of Cardinals recently asked the Vatican that they be exempted from the obligation of keeping a carriage or motor car, but this request was not granted, the Vatican feeling that members of the sacred college should not ride in public vehicles or walk.

An official list of all the Cardinals being a scarce commodity in addition to their salaries, emoluments which amount to quite considerable sums, one of their sources of revenue being a share in the fees paid by Bishops to whom bulls of appointment are issued. Cardinals who are secretaries of the sacred congregations also receive an allowance of 8000 lire per year.

Since the great war the bulk of the Vatican's revenues has come from America. The primate of Hungary used to bring 1,000,000 lire in "Peter's pence" whenever he visited the Pope, and this seemed an immense sum. Today the money brought to Rome by some American Archbishops exceeds this amount by a considerable sum.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

An official list of all the Cardinals being a scarce commodity in addition to their salaries, emoluments which amount to quite considerable sums, one of their sources of revenue being a share in the fees paid by Bishops to whom bulls of appointment are issued. Cardinals who are secretaries of the sacred congregations also receive an allowance of 8000 lire per year.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Unionism or Open Shop the Issue in Strange Civil War in West Virginia Mine Region

First of a Series of Articles by an Investigator Telling Just What Is Going on in Unique Labor Struggle.

BY WINTHROP D. LANE

Mr. Lane has just spent six weeks in the bituminous coal fields of West Virginia to try to get a picture not only of the industrial conflict going on in that State, but also of the civilization back of it. He talked to operators, sat by the fire in miners' homes, visited many mining camps, entered mines and discussed the struggle with officials of the union. His articles will appear daily in the Post-Dispatch. Senator Johnson of California has asked the United States Senate to investigate the conditions that prevail in the mining region.

WEST VIRGINIA is today in a state of civil war. This is not a war of a peculiar kind. It is not being fought by armies in the field led by military commanders, and through the power to class interest and the occasional resort to violence. It is being fought through the ordinary channels of civilization. These two are the miners and the owners of coal mines, through the ownership of men's homes through the control of local government. It is being fought by strikes, by appeals to class interest, by the occasional resort to violence. Its weapons are injunctions, special kinds of contracts of employment, imprisonment oratory, and the refusal to work.

The forces opposed in this war are the owners and operators of coal mines, on the one hand, and the men who produce the coal, the miners, on the other. The miners are assisted and encouraged by the United Mine Workers of America, a labor union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The issue between these two is this: Shall the miners have the right to belong to the United Mine Workers of America and to bargain collectively with their employers?

Naked Right Isn't Denied. Nobody denies the miner's naked right to join the union. The men who manage and operate the coal mines of West Virginia do not say: "You cannot belong to the union." They say: "You cannot become a member of the United Mine Workers of America and continue to work for us." Those who join are discharged.

And the operators say to the union: "Your organizers shall not come among our men. We will not let you make your appeal to them." The operators believe that their position is justified. They believe that the union is selfish, domineering, unscrupulous. They believe that the union's relations with their employees, and they see in its power rising costs of operation. They are determined, therefore, to keep it out.

The miners, on the other hand, believe that they have a right to belong to the union. They believe that this is an important and fundamental right. They believe that they have a much right to belong to the United Mine Workers of America as their employers have to belong to associations of operators.

See Certain Advantages. Moreover, they believe that certain tangible advantages will come to them from joining the union. They can then secure wage agreements, specifying that certain rates of pay and conditions of employment shall be in force over a definite period of time. They believe that in this way they can earn more money and make better homes for their families.

The operators are in the position of having to choose between two evils. They own or lease the property there is around a coal mine. The mining town is built on their property; they build it. They own the houses. They own the stores and the amusements of their town, sometimes the source of their police protection, and the patron of his physician, his minister, and his school teacher.

On the other hand, the power of the miner is his power to refuse to work. He can exercise this power to the great inconvenience of the operator. He can send down places. He can interfere with the production of coal. He can deprive the public of coal.

He can also, through the union, make appeals to the class interest of his fellow workers. He can cause dissatisfaction and stir up strife. He can make capital out of the hostility of his fellow workers. His power is neither so many-sided nor so controllable as that of the operator, but it is effective.

Continued on Page 15.

JAPANESE SHIP OF STATE ROCKED BY ROYAL LOVE AFFAIR

Allegations Made That Visit Abroad of Crown Prince Is Result of Intrigue to Cancel His Engagement.

MANY STATEMENTS AND RESIGNATIONS

Minister and Vice-Minister of Household and Field Marshal to Retire as Result of Complications.

By the Associated Press. TOKIO, Feb. 14.—The announced visit at an early date of the Japanese Crown Prince to England has behind it a "court intrigue." The case is declared to form one of the most extraordinary incidents in the dynastic history of the empire.

Allegations have been made to the effect that the real reason for the visit abroad of Crown Prince Hirohito is due to intrigue within the court to bring about cancellation of the betrothal of the Crown Prince to the Princess Nagako, daughter of Gen. Prince Kan'ei. The household department has issued an official statement to the effect that "rumor seems to be current" concerning the engagement of the Crown Prince to Princess Nagako, but that the nation should understand that no change whatsoever is contemplated concerning the marriage contract, as already informally settled.

Resignations Announced. "With a view to removing doubts and uneasy feelings on the part of the people," the Home Department has issued a similar communication. This communication adds that Baron Nakamura, Minister of the Household, has decided to resign. It is reported also that Mr. Ishiwara, Vice Minister of the Household, will be dismissed from office. The making public of the official communication was followed by a visit of Prince Kuni to the Emperor and the Empress.

The newspapers charge an intrigue to annul the betrothal of the Crown Prince and Princess Nagako while Hirohito is abroad, was launched by Baron Nakamura, and that he is supported by Field Marshal Yamagata, one of the elder statesmen. It appears that several cabinet members are in a state of confusion. Field Marshal to Retire.

According to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, Field Marshal Yamagata has decided to retire from the presidency of the Privy Council and to give up his generalship as a result of the incident, holding himself responsible for interference in the love affairs and that they subsequently sent circulars to all the imperial princes.

Field Marshal to Retire. According to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, Field Marshal Yamagata has decided to retire from the presidency of the Privy Council and to give up his generalship as a result of the incident, holding himself responsible for interference in the love affairs and that they subsequently sent circulars to all the imperial princes.

Field Marshal to Retire. According to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, Field Marshal Yamagata has decided to retire from the presidency of the Privy Council and to give up his generalship as a result of the incident, holding himself responsible for interference in the love affairs and that they subsequently sent circulars to all the imperial princes.

Field Marshal to Retire. According to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, Field Marshal Yamagata has decided to retire from the presidency of the Privy Council and to give up his generalship as a result of the incident, holding himself responsible for interference in the love affairs and that they subsequently sent circulars to all the imperial princes.

Field Marshal to Retire. According to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, Field Marshal Yamagata has decided to retire from the presidency of the Privy Council and to give up his generalship as a result of the incident, holding himself responsible for interference in the love affairs and that they subsequently sent circulars to all the imperial princes.

Field Marshal to Retire. According to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, Field Marshal Yamagata has decided to retire from the presidency of the Privy Council and to give up his generalship as a result of the incident, holding himself responsible for interference in the love affairs and that they subsequently sent circulars to all the imperial princes.

Field Marshal to Retire. According to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, Field Marshal Yamagata has decided to retire from the presidency of the Privy Council and to give up his generalship as a result of the incident, holding himself responsible for interference in the love affairs and that they subsequently sent circulars to all the imperial princes.

Field Marshal to Retire. According to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, Field Marshal Yamagata has decided to retire from the presidency of the Privy Council and to give up his generalship as a result of the incident, holding himself responsible for interference in the love affairs and that they subsequently sent circulars to all the imperial princes.

Field Marshal to Retire. According to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, Field Marshal Yamagata has decided to retire from the presidency of the Privy Council and to give up his generalship as a result of the incident, holding himself responsible for interference in the love affairs and that they subsequently sent circulars to all the imperial princes.

Field Marshal to Retire. According to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, Field Marshal Yamagata has decided to retire from the presidency of the Privy Council and to give up his generalship as a result of the incident, holding himself responsible for interference in the love affairs and that they subsequently sent circulars to all the imperial princes.

POPE CONFERS DECORATIONS ON EIGHT AMERICANS

Archbishop Dougherty of Philadelphia to Be Named at Secret Consistory Early in March.

By the Associated Press. ROME, Feb. 14.—Pope Benedict yesterday conferred the decoration of Knight of the Order of St. Gregory the Great on James McGraw of Oklahoma, Edward W. Buckley, St. Paul, Minn.; Daniel Callahan, Washington; Martin H. Connelley, Grand Rapids, Mich.; William Dwyer, St. Paul, Minn.; William McGinley, New York; Joseph Scott, Los Angeles, and Count Deregala of Mexico.

The decoration of Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great was given to Joseph C. Pelletier of Boston.

Pope Benedict also appointed Patrick Francis Marion of Asheville, N. C.; the Very Rev. Philip S. Garand of Ogdensburg, N. Y.; the Rev. John F. Glavin, the Rev. John T. Slattery and the Rev. Michael J. Looney of Albany, N. Y., and the Very Rev. T. L. Harmer, the Very Rev. G. T. Brady and the Rev. M. K. Norton of Dubuque, Ia., to be his domestic prelates.

One Cardinal to Be Made. The Vatican announced officially that the Most Rev. Dennis J. Dougherty, Archbishop of Philadelphia, would be created a Cardinal at the secret consistory to be held early in March.

Monsignor Dougherty will be the only new American Cardinal named at the next consistory. Archbishop Mundelein of Chicago and Archbishop Hayes of New York, although they probably will receive the red hat before long, will not be included in the appointments in March, even as Cardinals reserved in pectore, as the pontiff generally has recourse to this system only when there are weighty reasons not to publish immediately the creation of certain Cardinals.

Explanation of the fact that during the coming consistory no new Cardinals residing in Rome are to be created may be found in the high cost of living, it is said, at the Vatican. All members of the sacred college who are attached to the Curia receive 22,000 lire per year from the papal revenues, and there is some hesitancy in adding to the burden at the present time.

Salaries Fixed in 1851. The salaries received by Cardinals were fixed in 1851, when it was possible to lease a sumptuous apartment in this city for 1800 lire, but at present even a moderately comfortable dwelling place cannot be rented less than 18,000. A number of Cardinals recently asked the Vatican that they be exempted from the obligation of keeping a carriage or motor car, but this request was not granted, the Vatican feeling that members of the sacred college should not ride in public vehicles or walk.

An official list of all the Cardinals being a scarce commodity in addition to their salaries, emoluments which amount to quite considerable sums, one of their sources of revenue being a share in the fees paid by Bishops to whom bulls of appointment are issued. Cardinals who are secretaries of the sacred congregations also receive an allowance of 8000 lire per year.

Since the great war the bulk of the Vatican's revenues has come from America. The primate of Hungary used to bring 1,000,000 lire in "Peter's pence" whenever he visited the Pope, and this seemed an immense sum. Today the money brought to Rome by some American Archbishops exceeds this amount by a considerable sum.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

Mgr. Dougherty Due in Rome. Mgr. Dougherty is expected to arrive in Rome on Feb. 25 and will be received with the honors due to his station by Mgr. Cerretti, Papal Undersecretary of State, and other prelates, laymen and members of the American hierarchy.

JAPANESE SHIP OF STATE ROCKED BY ROYAL LOVE AFFAIR

MARKET TRENDS AFTER DRAGGING EARLY IN DAY

Mexican Petroleum Strong and Gains Three Points— Sugar and Other Industrial Strong.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Trading on the Stock Exchange opened on a moderately active basis, with price changes irregular with the continued weakness in Reading a feature. The latter sold down to 77 1/2 for a net loss of one point. Meanwhile pronounced strength became apparent in the sugar stocks, which were off to a start in the Trane Coal and Oil and in United Fruit. As a whole, however, the market continued to drag along until about 2 o'clock, when good rally developed, which was followed by a sharp decline in the afternoon.
The market was strong throughout the day and toward the close showed a net gain of over 2 points.
At the same time most of the rails showed fractional advances and ending had recovered the lost ground and a point in addition.
Gains also predominated in the industrial list and amounted in the case of active issues to 2 points.
Call money was at 7 per cent
throughout, and was again reported to be plentiful outside the exchange
at 6.

Sterling and Francs Higher.

"Firmness on a rather small volume of business characterized the principal European exchanges. Sterling, francs and marks were higher, the former gaining 1 cent over 25 cents, the latter 1/2 cent. The dollar also advanced, the highest since last July. French francs at 2 1/2 cents were up 6 points. The dollar price of the pound was the highest reached on Jan.
24. German marks were up 3 points at 1 1/4 cents. Swedish kronor also showed strength, but the other Scan-davian exchanges lost ground. With silver from 1/2 of a penny at London since Friday, the price being 25 pence, the far Eastern exchanges were heavy. Canadian dollars at 88 cents were 1/2 of a cent higher.

Improvement in Credit.

"Distinct improvement in credit conditions at New York was signs of a shifting of the burden to Boston, Philadelphia and Cleveland, and the features of the week and bank statements. The earlier cash and reserve position shown in the New York Clearing House banks was confirmed by the corresponding reports of the statements. Reserves gained $14-000,000, while net circulation fell off
$100,000,000 and net deposits $3,000-000. The published ratio rose from 35 1/2 to 36 1/2 per cent. If the ratio is figured without reference to reserve withdrawn from other banks through redemptions by the latter of New York acceptances, the improvement in credit conditions regionally is more marked. The percentage rising from 33 1/2 to 36 1/2. The New York Bank, in fact, was able to reduce its borrowings from the other banks by $24,000,000 to $14,000,000 and the total of inter-bank accommodation within the system was cut to $45,000,000, the lowest since March 19, 1920. While the debit banks were all reducing their borrowings, and while the credit banks were increasing theirs, the amount of accommodation extended to members was especially marked in the case of the Cleveland banks where bills on hand, exclusive of paper discounted for other reserve banks, increased from $10,000-000 to $15,000,000 and the real reserve ratio from 81 1/2 to 72 1/2 per cent.
Dollar continues to be the weak spot in the system, but the ratio which is exclusive of borrowed reserve shows steady improvement."

Wall Street News and Comment SPECIAL DAILY

By Leased Wire Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Development over the week-end, while somewhat conflicting, was indica-tionally favorable for the financial market. The only incident of an adverse sort was another series of sharp drops in oil prices, both crude and refined.

The oil group was confronted by another severe test by reason of the announcement of further cuts in crude oil prices made over Sunday and a reduction in gasoline prices which was a curious difference in the way this news was reported by the various oil shares.
Mexican Petroleum, Royal Dutch, Pan-American and Texas Co. were consistently strong and even had their moments of advancing prices.
On the other hand, Texas & Pacific Coal and Oil broke very badly and Mineral and Irvinville were weak.
The street gossip about Texas & Pacific Coal and Oil was that the pool which recently put the stock up some 10 points, had distributed its holding under cover of buoyancy in the high-priced oil. The case with which it fell off was an indication that support had been withdrawn temporarily and that the numerous outsiders following were left to get out the best they could. The stimulus afforded Sinclair Oil by the news of its pipe line deal with the Standard Oil of Indiana was evidently exhausted. Mexican Petroleum showed more than any security its strength by itself because of the contract made with Standard Oil for al-luminous entire gasoline output for 1921. The contract has been more assured price and presumably is firm. This being the case, Mexican Petroleum is not concerned like other gasoline producers, over the fall in the price of the product.

The Bond Market.

The $6,000,000 United Railways of Havana government debt certificates went off very easily today. They were all taken and the books closed

NEW YORK STOCKS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Total sales on the New York Stock Exchange today were $18,725,000, against $11,400,000 Friday, $13,140,000 a week ago, $9,600,000 a year ago and $10,254,000 two years ago. From Jan. 1 to date, $411,804,000, against $350,350,000 a year ago and $415,408,000 two years ago. Total sales of each security and the high and low prices are given on $100,000 basis.

Following is a list of sales on the Stock Exchange, with the high, low and closing prices and the net changes for the day:

STOCKS. Sales. High. Low. Close. Chg.

Industrials. Sales. High. Low. Close. Chg.

Am. B. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. C. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. E. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. F. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. G. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. H. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. I. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. J. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. K. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. L. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. M. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. N. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. O. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. P. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. Q. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. R. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. S. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. T. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. U. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. V. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. W. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. X. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. Y. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. Z. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AA. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AB. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AC. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AD. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AE. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AF. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AG. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AH. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AI. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AJ. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AK. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AL. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AM. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AN. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AO. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AP. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AQ. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AR. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AS. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AT. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AU. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AV. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AW. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AX. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AY. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AZ. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BA. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BB. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BC. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BD. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BE. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BF. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BG. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BH. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BI. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BJ. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BK. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BL. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BM. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BN. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BO. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BP. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BQ. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BR. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BS. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BT. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BU. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BV. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BW. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BX. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BY. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. BZ. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. CA. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. CB. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. CC. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. CD. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. CE. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. CF. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. CG. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. CH. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. CI. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

NEW YORK BONDS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Total sales of bonds on the Stock Exchange today were $18,725,000, against $11,400,000 Friday, $13,140,000 a week ago, $9,600,000 a year ago and $10,254,000 two years ago. From Jan. 1 to date, $411,804,000, against $350,350,000 a year ago and $415,408,000 two years ago. Total sales of each security and the high and low prices are given on $100,000 basis.

Following is a list of sales on the Stock Exchange, with the high, low and closing prices and the net changes for the day:

STOCKS. Sales. High. Low. Close. Chg.

Industrials. Sales. High. Low. Close. Chg.

Am. B. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. C. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. E. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. F. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. G. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. H. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. I. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. J. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. K. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. L. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. M. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. N. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. O. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. P. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. Q. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. R. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. S. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. T. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. U. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. V. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. W. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. X. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. Y. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. Z. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AA. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AB. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AC. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AD. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AE. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AF. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AG. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AH. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AI. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AJ. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AK. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AL. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AM. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AN. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AO. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AP. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AQ. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AR. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AS. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AT. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AU. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AV. S. 1,800 48 1/2 47 1/2 48 1/2

Am. AW. S. 1,800

IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Most of the restaurants are mere food stalls open to the street.

At these stalls the Turks buy their luncheon, then squat on the sidewalk and eat it.

Travelers say that the food is rather good, but the squatting spoils their appetite.

Especially after having enjoyed the comforts of the clean, attractive dining rooms at CHILDS.

Corned beef hash, deliciously browned in the pan and topped with a freshly poached egg.

Childs
218 N. 7th St.
804 Washington Ave.
ADVERTISEMENT.

"They WORK while you sleep"

Cascaret's
You are bilious, constipated, headachy, full of cold, unstrung. Your nails don't fit—breath is bad, skin sallow. Take one or two Cascarets tonight for your liver and bowels and wake up clear, rosy and cheerful. No griping—no inconvenience. Children love Cascarets too. 10, 25, 50 cents.

KONDON'S
CATARRHAL JELLY
FOR Colds Get a tube today. Makes your head and nose feel fine.
Easy to apply
Quick to act
30 treatment tin FREE—Write
KONDON MFG. CO.
Minneapolis, Minn.

St. Louis' Safest 7% Savings Investment

UNION ELECTRIC PREFERRED STOCK

Cash: $100 a Share
Ten Payments: $102

Pays Cash Dividends of $7 a Year ($1.75 Every Three Months), on Each $100 Share

Always Salable and Always Worth Par

Come to Room 201, Union Electric Bldg., 12th and Locust Sts., St. Louis, or to Union Electric's offices in St. Louis, St. Charles, Franklin, Jefferson or Perry counties; or send us your name and address and let us send a salesman, or a circular, as you prefer, to explain this offer in detail.

Name _____
Address _____

Union Electric Light & Power Co.

LABOR UNIONS OPPOSE SUNDAY BLUE LAWS

Members Say They Are Willing to Work Sundays if Given Another Day of Rest.

Central Trades and Labor Union yesterday adopted a resolution against any so-called blue laws affecting Sunday amusements. It was presented by a delegate representing the Musicians' and Moving Picture Operators' Union, who pointed out that the members of these organizations were not averse to working on Sunday for the amusement of others while they were given other days to rest and amuse themselves.

A resolution against the moving picture censorship bill now before the Legislature also was adopted. Discussing the report of the Legislative Committee, which reviewed the repeal of the ordinance providing for municipal employment of union labor and payment of the prevailing wage scale, some delegates denounced the Kiel administration and advised the delegates to vote against Kiel and the Aldermen who voted to repeal the ordinance. The action did not take the form of a resolution.

Secretary David Keyling reported that $7251.62 had been raised for striking waitresses of Waitresses' Local No. 249, since Oct. 27 last, $2104.40 of which has been received since Jan. 23. One hundred dollars from the hall fund was donated yesterday by the Central Trades Union. The Typographical Union No. 6, $100 by Typographical Union No. 8 and $10 by the Stereotypers' Union No. 8, making a total to date of $7661.62.

BOY-ED AND HIS AMERICAN BRIDE NOW IN LUBECK, GERMANY

Former Naval Attaché at Washington Now Engaged in Shipping Business in Hamburg.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch. BERLIN, Feb. 14.—Capt. Karl Boy-Ed, former German naval attaché at Washington, who married Miss Virginia Mackay-Smith, an American girl Thursday, is now in Lubeck with his wife, visiting his mother, Mrs. Ida Boy-Ed, a novelist. Capt. Boy-Ed has left the navy and is now engaged in the shipping business in Hamburg, being in the employment of the North German Hansa League, an organization devoted to furthering German shipping, industrial and commercial interests.

Boy-Ed re-met Miss Mackay-Smith last November at Amsterdam, when she was visiting Europe with her mother. The former naval attaché would not have left the United States in December, 1915, as a bachelor if the naval censors at the Sayville wireless station had not held up a German dispatch to the Washington Embassy in which the German Foreign Office gave its consent to Capt. Boy-Ed's marriage in the United States. Permission previously had been refused. The message was in cipher and for that reason was not delivered to the German Embassy until after Boy-Ed had embarked. Capt. Franz von Papen, former German military attaché at Washington, who was recalled by Boy-Ed at the request of President Wilson, is a candidate for the Prussian Diet from the Westphalian district.

Nugents

The Store for ALL the People

$12 and $15 Petticoats

Of beautiful imported Japanese crepe, in satin floral effects: one style with hand-embroidered scalloped edge and hand-embroidered floral design. White, flesh, pink, blue, tan and wistaria. While 50 last. $5.00

Silk Jersey Petticoats
Just 75; attractively made with deep accordion pleated flounces, in different color combinations in many new ways. Others to match all suit shades. $3.29

$5.00 Jersey Silk Petticoats
Jersey Silk Petticoats, in good street shades deep flounce of jersey and satin combination and with jersey tops. $3.29

$5.00 Silk Habutai Petticoats
Women's Silk Habutai Petticoats with deep flounces, in light and dark shades. Easily washed. $2.50

$1.95 Sateen Petticoats
Of good quality sateen, in black, navy, green and purple, with fancy tucked flounces. $1.25
(Fourth Floor—Nugents.)

New Silk Lace Hosiery

Made to Sell for $4.95 and $5.95, at Beautiful Silk Hose with fancy lace boot and dressy side stockings so much in demand right now. Some are made with lisle tops, but the majority are all-silk in beautiful shades of black, brown, gray, white and some evening shades of gold, sky, helio and pink. All sizes from 8½ to 10 $2.89

Every pair is absolutely first quality and will give the fullest measure of service and satisfaction. They were made to sell at the prices quoted in the headline—you can therefore judge for yourself how remarkably good they are.

(Main Floor—Nugents.)

BARGAIN BASEMENT

Our Great Sale of 1500

DRESSES

Is Already the Talk of the Town and Has Created More Talk and More Favorable Comment Than Any Similar Event Held in St. Louis in Many Years. Just Think of It!

$20 Dresses at.. $7.75
$18 Dresses at..
$15 Dresses at..
$12 Dresses at..

Don't think these are cheap quality Dresses because the price is so low. Come prepared to find Dresses that are usually found only in the upstairs departments of most stores at much higher prices.

Velour Checks	Tricotines	Wool Jerseys	Tricolettes
Fine Satins	Taffeta Silk	Velours	Velvets
Combinations	Georgettes	Fine Twills	Wool Serges
Balkan Effects	Redingote Mode	Clever Eton Styles
New Panel Effects	Beaded Dresses	Embroidered Styles

There Are Sizes for Women and Misses

(Bargain Basement—Nugents.)

Tuesday—Blue Bird Day—Ri

The Day That Thousands of St. Louisans Have Learned to Watch for, Wait for and Profit by, Know that on Tuesday Prices That Prevail Only on That Day. Read This List—Items May Never

Blue Bird No. 65,431—Tuesday Only.
$3.95 Petticoats, $3.20

Women's; accordion pleated flounce.

Blue Bird No. 65,432—Tuesday Only.
$1.95 Caps, $1.50

Boys'; wool suiting; large assortment of colors.

Blue Bird No. 65,433—Tuesday Only.
$2.45 Cloth Hats, $1.95

Boys'; snappy styles.

Blue Bird No. 65,434—Tuesday Only.
$13.95 Marseilles Bed Set, $10.25

White or colored; scalloped edge; full size. Roll cover to match.

Blue Bird No. 65,435—Tuesday Only.
$1.25 Fancy Venetians, 95c

Fancy patterns; 36 inches wide.

Blue Bird No. 65,436—Tuesday Only.
59c Sateen, 45c

Plain colors; 36 inches wide.

Blue Bird No. 65,437—Tuesday Only.
$5.35 Electric Irons, $4.50

"The Bon" guaranteed; complete with cord and stand.

Blue Bird No. 65,438—Tuesday Only.
50c Figured Voiles, 40c

Fancy patterns; 36 inches wide.

Blue Bird No. 65,439—Tuesday Only.
$1.85 Nonkrush Linen, $1.35

Plain colors; 36 inches wide.

Blue Bird No. 65,440—Tuesday Only.
$1.00 Organdie, 75c

Plain colors; 42 inches wide.

Blue Bird No. 65,441—Tuesday Only.
89c Tissue Gingham, 65c

Fancy plaids; 32 inches wide.

Blue Bird No. 65,442—Tuesday Only.
$4.25 Wool Velour, $3.25

54-inch; Spring weight; wanted shades.

Blue Bird No. 65,443—Tuesday Only.
$2.50 Broadcloth, $3.25

52-inch; wanted shades.

Blue Bird No. 65,444—Tuesday Only.
$2.75 French Serge, $2.00

54-inch; Spring weight; navy blue or black.

Blue Bird No. 65,445—Tuesday Only.
$2.50 Shepherd Checks, $2.10

48-inch; serge weave; brown, blue, black and white checks.

Blue Bird No. 65,446—Tuesday Only.
$3.75 Wool Epingle, $3.25

50-inch; good weight; wanted shades.

Blue Bird No. 65,447—Tuesday Only.
75c Mayonnaise Sets, 45c

Hand cut floral design.

Blue Bird No. 65,448—Tuesday Only.
$12.95 Dinner Set, $9.25

42-piece; blue and gold line border.

Blue Bird No. 65,449—Tuesday Only.
$15.95 Dinner Sets, $12.00

50-piece; blue and pink spray designs.

Blue Bird No. 65,450—Tuesday Only.
$1.60 Water Set, $1.20

Hand-engraved, with initial in gold.

Blue Bird No. 65,451—Tuesday Only.
$1.95 Clothes Hamper, $1.25

Splint; large size.

Blue Bird No. 65,452—Tuesday Only.
98c Vacuum Washer, 70c

Large size; of heavy tin.

Blue Bird No. 65,453—Tuesday Only.
$4.95 Food Choppers, $3.25

Large size; Enterprise; four cutting knives.

Blue Bird No. 65,454—Tuesday Only.
$1.29 Berlin Kettle, 95c

Four-quart size; blue and white enameled ware.

Blue Bird No. 65,455—Tuesday Only.
38c Skillet, 25c

Large No. 8 size; heavy gauge steel.

Blue Bird No. 65,456—Tuesday Only.
75c Floor Wax, 45c

For waxing and polishing all wood-work.

Blue Bird No. 65,457—Tuesday Only.
59c Huck Towel, 40c

18x24 inches; Union linen; hem-stitched; blue and blue borders.

Blue Bird No. 65,458—Tuesday Only.
$4.00 Scalloped Cloth, $3.25

Round; 68x68 inches in diameter; assorted patterns.

Blue Bird No. 65,459—Tuesday Only.
$7.50 Napkins, $6.75

Union linen; size 22x22 inches; assorted patterns.

Blue Bird No. 65,460—Tuesday Only.
$2.50 Union Linen Damask, $1.95

70 inches wide; assorted patterns.

Blue Bird No. 65,461—Tuesday Only.
46c Bath Towels, 35c

Double thread Terry cloth; 23x44 inch size.

Blue Bird No. 65,462—Tuesday Only.
$4.50 All-Linen Damask, $3.25

70 inches wide; spot and floral patterns.

Blue Bird No. 65,463—Tuesday Only.
60c All-Linen Crash, 50c

Extra heavy; 17 inches wide; red border.

Blue Bird No. 65,464—Tuesday Only.
59c Nainsook, 45c

40 inches wide; suitable for fine underwear and infants' dresses.

Blue Bird No. 65,465—Tuesday Only.
$2.00 Bolt Longcloth, $1.45

36 inches wide; 10-yard pieces.

Blue Bird No. 65,466—Tuesday Only.
$1 Embroidered Swiss, 85c

30-inch; dot and fancy patterns.

Blue Bird No. 65,467—Tuesday Only.
$2.25 Diaper Cloth, $1.65

Red Star; 24 inches wide; 10-yard pieces.

Blue Bird No. 65,468—Tuesday Only.
35c Belt Hose Supporters, 60c

Victoria; ladies'; medium and large size.

Blue Bird No. 65,469—Tuesday Only.
25c Hair Curlers, 15c

West Electric; five on card.

Blue Bird No. 65,470—Tuesday Only.
$3.50 Hairbrushes, $2.95

Ivory-white; 11 rows fine bristles.

Blue Bird No. 65,471—Tuesday Only.
$1 Piver's Face Powder, 80c

Azure odor; all shades.

Blue Bird No. 65,472—Tuesday Only.
$1.75 Vanity, $1.40

Silver-plated; containing mirror and puff.

Blue Bird No. 65,473—Tuesday Only.
$2.00 Rosary, $1.50

Silver-plated; in doric case.

Blue Bird No. 65,474—Tuesday Only.
$5.00 Handbags, 3.90

Black, brown and gray leather; assorted styles.

Blue Bird No. 65,475—Tuesday Only.
$3.95 Canteen, $3.10

Assorted leathers and colors, with vanity fitting.

Blue Bird No. 65,476—Tuesday Only.
$49.50 Wardrobe Trunk, $40.50

Three-ply veneer; beautiful tone lined.

Blue Bird No. 65,477—Tuesday Only.
$1.00 Stationery, 75c

Highland linen correspondence cards; 24 cards and 24 envelopes.

Blue Bird No. 65,478—Tuesday Only.
50c Playing Cards, 45c

Bicycle; red and blue back.

Blue Bird No. 65,479—Tuesday Only.
$9.50 Bed Springs, $8.00

Guaranteed 20 years; all sizes; heavy; non-sag style.

Blue Bird No. 65,480—Tuesday Only.
$10.00 Umbrellas, $7.50

Men's and women's; all sizes; silk covers; neat handle.

Blue Bird No. 65,481—Tuesday Only.
$10.00 Trimmed Hats, $8.00

Hand assortment of styles.

Blue Bird No. 65,482—Tuesday Only.
$3.85 Kid Gloves, $3.00

Men's; one-clasp; assorted colors.

Blue Bird No. 65,483—Tuesday Only.
$1.00 Silk Hose, 75c

Men's; mercedized lisle top; and colors; sizes 9½ to 11½.

Blue Bird No. 65,484—Tuesday Only.
$1.75 Silk Hose, $1.40

Women's; lisle garter top; white and brown; sizes 9½ to 11½.

Blue Bird No. 65,485—Tuesday Only.
$3.50 Silk Hose, $2.95

Black and several new shades; sizes 9½ to 10.

Blue Bird No. 65,486—Tuesday Only.
$3.00 Union Suits, $2.50

Men's; short or long sleeve; quarter or ankle length; only all sizes 34 to 50.

Blue Bird No. 65,487—Tuesday Only.
$2.25 Union Suits, $1.95

Women's; Pandora style; tight knee; extra size.

Blue Bird No. 65,488—Tuesday Only.
$4.50 Silk Vests, $3.95

Men's; short or long sleeve; quarter or ankle length; only all sizes 34 to 50.

Blue Bird No. 65,489—Tuesday Only.
$7.75 Satin Ribbon, $6.95

Black taffeta; ten inches wide; and conventional designs.

Blue Bird No. 65,490—Tuesday Only.
$1.75 Ribbon, $1.35

Black taffeta; ten inches wide; and conventional designs.

Blue Bird No. 65,491—Tuesday Only.
$3.00 Handkerchiefs, 2.50

Women's; one-cornered embroidered; sizes 24 to 46.

Blue Bird No. 65,492—Tuesday Only.
$5.95 Comforts, $4.95

Full size; Persian pattern; plain white hemstitched cotton filled, quilted.

Tuesday—An Extraordinary Sale of Ws and Misses

Late Season

Originally $1.50, $2.25, $2.50, $3.00, and $3.50, and Reduced for This Second Sale to . . .

We have reduced a collection of high Sale tomorrow, and miss who home the finest Dress bought at this bargain.

The material is lovely—velvet, charmeuse, satin, tulle, and the st and blouse effects—brocade, beads, vestes, collars, for misses and

Dresses Orally Priced

About 60 beautiful comprising models priced ranges, fashion, mignonets, vets and combination every size in every

For Tuesday—a Sale of Hair Brushes

Offering a Special Purchase at These Savings

$1.50 to $2.50 Sample Hair Brushes

Just 200 in this lot, all high-class pure bristle brushes; well made so that they will give good service. Choice while they last.

Hughes' Ideal Hair Brushes

Waterproof; can be washed and cleaned without harming. 79c

Rubber Set Shaving Brushes

"MARK WELL"

"MARK WELL

Your Safeguard is the Name

"SALADA"

TEA

on a Sealed Packet, as this is the
"GENUINE ARTICLE"

Scudders-Gale Grocer Co., Sole Agents

ADVERTISEMENT.

"Diamond Dyes" don't stain hands or pan.

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains easy directions to diamond-dye old, faded skirts, waists, dresses, coats, sweaters, stockings, draperies, everything. Beware! Poor dye streaks, spots, fades and ruins your material by giving it "dyed-look." Buy only "Diamond Dyes." Tell druggists whether your material is wool or silk or if it is cotton, linen, or a mixture. 16 rich, fadeless colors.

Busy Bee
CANDIES

Tuesday Candy Special
Satin Dainties

Pound, 35 Cents

Dainty bits of satin finish hard candies with assorted flavors and many with nut fillings.

Everything that hard candy should be.

Bakeland Special
Chocolate Marshmallow Layer Cake
Tuesday, 45 Cents

Why Bake at Home?
417 N. 7th
Sixth & Olive
617 N. B'dway

6% $500 and $1000 Denomination
1st Mortgage Serial Gold Notes —Interest Payable Semi-Annually
 Secured by First Mortgage on St. Louis Improved Real Estate OF MORE THAN DOUBLE VALUE
We Recommend them as an absolutely safe investment.
 For Circulars, write, phone or call—Hemmelmann - Spackler
 Safe Investors Real Estate Co. Seventh and Chestnut Sts.

Every Time You Buy a Pound of

FRENCH
COFFEE Always Fresh Pound Pkg.. 35c
You are saving money, because it would cost a great deal more to get the same coffee satisfaction elsewhere. Try a pound.

KROGER'S

Night's Rest Is Undisturbed
When You Take
Smith's Kidney and Bladder Medicine

Many kidney medicines on the market, but SMITH'S Prepared especially for old men.

Men have more or less irritation of The bladder and Awake at night and SMITH'S KIDNEY MEDICINE

at trouble.
at any drug store. Price 60 cents.

Supposed to American won tax last year an income of the Name

SA

this is the
"LE"
Sole Agents

"don't pan

ruins your material look. Buy only Tall drugget material is wool or silk, linen, or a mixture of colors.

with as-
be.

er Cake

Denomination
Gold Notes proved Real Estate
VALUE
safe investment.

backler
Seventh and Chestnut Sts.

ound of CH
35c
R'S

SMITH'S

adder and MEDICINE

Editorial Page
News Photographs
MONDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1921.

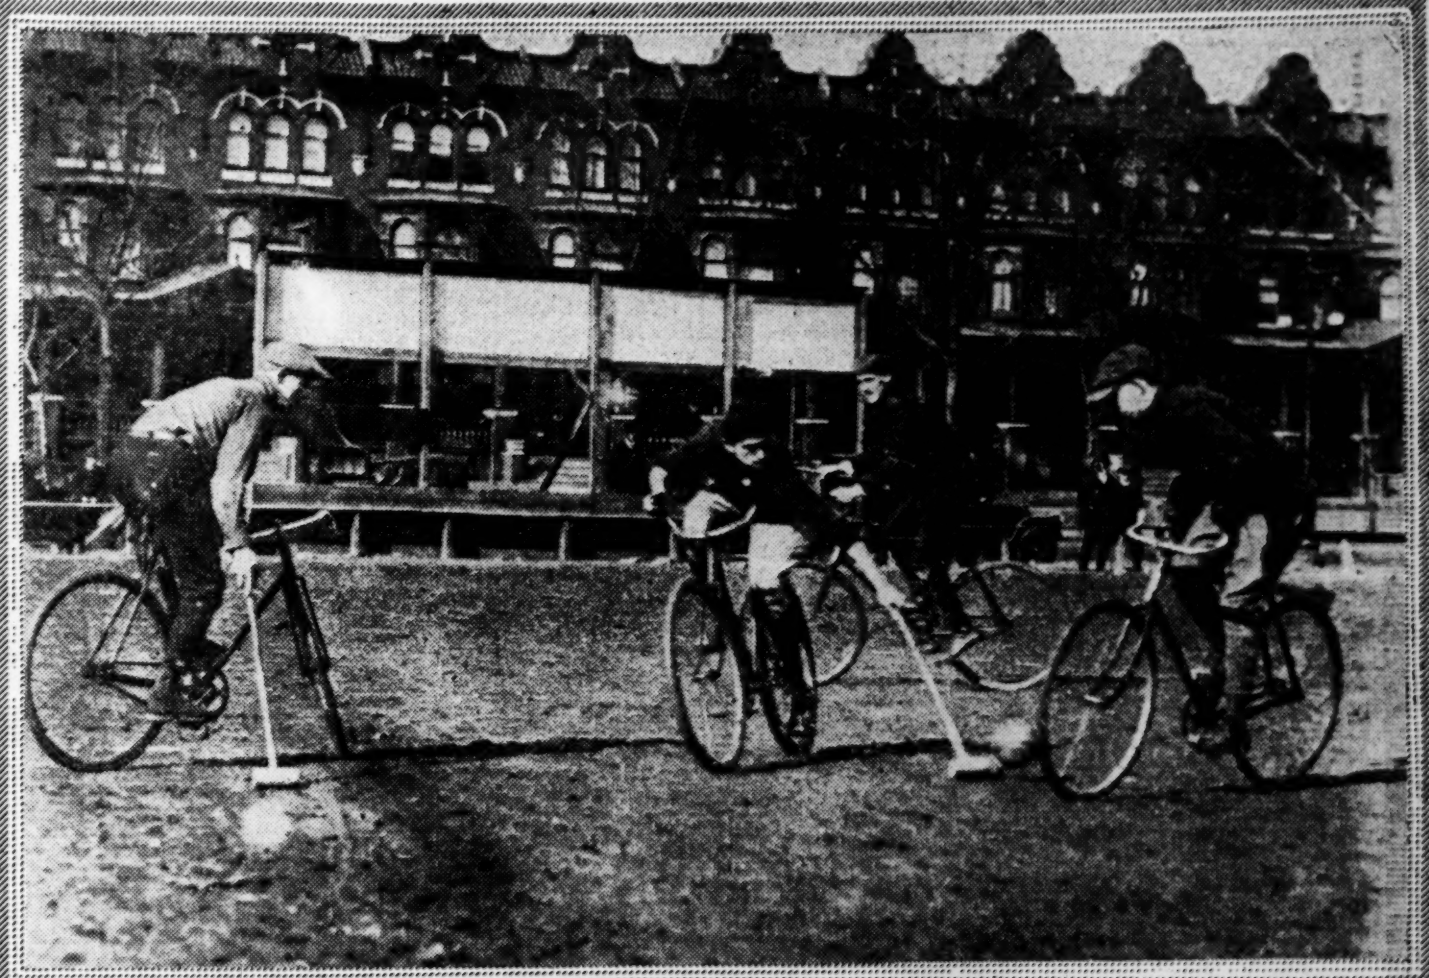

DAILY MAGAZINE

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Fiction, Popular Comics and Women's Features
MONDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1921.
PAGE 21

Testing an 850-pound diving suit off Long Island. The wearer descended to a depth of 264 feet. —Wire World Photo.

Polo on bicycles is a growing sport among Philadelphia boys. Photo shows contest on Broad street. —Centre News Photo Service.

Supposed to have the largest income of any American woman. Mrs. E. H. Harriman, whose tax last year is thought to have been based on an income of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. —International Photo.

England's premier Duke, not yet 13 years old. New photo of the Duke of Norfolk, owner of 50,000 acres of land and an immense fortune besides. —International Photo.

Here's the 1921 towel, an electric apparatus which dries one's hands with a current of hot air which is released by merely stepping on pedal at base of upright. —International Photo.

Two models at the silk show in New York, wearing fabrics centuries old and of wonderful texture and color. —International Photo.

Front and back views of protective armor to be worn by Omaha policemen during the crime wave. It weighs eight pounds and consists of breast and back plates of finest steel. —Underwood & Underwood.

Thomas A. Edison, photographed just before he celebrated his 74th birthday last week. —Underwood & Underwood.

One golf stick will serve for three—a cleft, iron and mashie niblick, by merely unscrewing the iron head and substituting the one you wish to use. —Underwood & Underwood.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Founded by JOSEPH PULITZER
Dec. 12, 1875.
Published by the Pulitzer Publishing Co., Twelfth and Olive Streets.

POST-DISPATCH CIRCULATION
Average 1920:

Sunday Average.....561,947
Daily and Sunday Average, 191,056

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER.

April 10, 1907.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

SHALL MARRIED WOMEN WORK?

Incompetent Husbands.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Regarding the employment of married women: We do not go out to work, neglecting our homes and children, because we love to do so. As for giving the girls a chance, the unincumbered young girls always has and always will have chances. About half the husbands these days either cannot or will not provide properly for their families. Should we then remain at home in poverty and want, and rear our children without body and brain-building food, or clothing enough to preserve their self-respect, while we know how and have strength to earn these things? Not I! Are we then to be forever beyond the pale because we married—perhaps not wisely?

I think it much better for me, an experienced woman, able and capable, to go and earn good wages than to send my young daughter out unprepared into a world of woe, jeopardizing her health and future happiness for a pittance. There are hundreds of chickens hanging to street car straps, in abbreviated skirts, who ought to be at home preparing their minds and bodies for the future fullness of life, instead of wasting their precious time earning cheap flimsy—gaw-caws, shoddy clothes.

I believe in employing married men and married women first.

I have heard such young girls, as well as their mothers, speak of the achievement of a girl who had earned clothes as though she had conquered worlds, when if thrown on her own resources she would have starved. Why pay such a price for just clothes?

Edgemont, Ill.

SISTER-IN-LAW.

A Married Woman's Struggle.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I am a married woman and have a family to support and I have a husband, but he has no steady employment, so I am working out, not because I want to buy pretty clothes.

Miss Single Girl, wake up! There is plenty of work here. Do not overlook housework.

M. W.

Soldier's Wife Talks.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Is the woman who gave her husband to the service of "Uncle Sam" during the world war to receive no consideration?

After a marriage of six years, my husband volunteered his services in answer to the call of his country, at a salary of $30 per month. After a few weeks of search, I finally secured a position.

During the war the "stay-at-home" man received a salary of from $50 to $75 per week, or approximately $3500 per year. My husband was receiving $360 per year. What a compensation!

I was forced to use our meager savings of five years past in order to provide the necessities of life for myself and a few little extras for my husband.

The "stay-at-home" man was having, I dare say, $1500 or more, of his year's earnings. Now, this is the man who is condemning the married woman for working.

Is it wrong for the married woman to work to try and get herself and husband on the same footing they were before he entered the service of his country, when the "stay-at-home" man has his nest "feathered"? The ex-service man's wife isn't wearing furs that cost hundreds of dollars; neither have they bought their own home, even at the cost of war. The plain-dressed woman you see plodding her way to work each day, endeavoring to get a new start, is the wife of the ex-service man. The fluff-ruff woman, driving her own car, is the wife of the "stay-at-home" who "reaped the harvest" at the expense of "blood shed in No-man's Land."

REAL HELPMATE.

Married Women's Rights.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your paper has printed several letters lately about married women holding positions.

Why should they not obtain and hold jobs if they wish to do so? This country is supposed to be free. Why should one class group of people be discriminated against solely because they are married?

I noticed during the war when so many bonds were being sold the married women were very carefully asked to and expected to, and did buy them. Also when married women own property they are graciously permitted to support the Government by paying taxes. But when it comes to holding a Government job and thus deriving some benefit from the Government which she helps to sustain some people would swoon away. "My wife's a married woman!" She should be some putting in 16 hours a day at housework while the good jobs are handed out to others.

Married women, let's not allow anyone to deprive us of our rights. We are entitled to the same privileges as anyone else.

PROGRESS MENACED.

Only two out of the four election reform bills approved by the conference called by Gov. Hyde have been reported to the Senate. The general election bill for the three larger cities of the State and the blanket ballot bill, which was marred by provision for party emblems.

One of the most important of the bills—the general primary bill—endorsed by the conference and the bar association, has made no progress and the attitude of Boss Lloyd with regard to the bill is not reassuring. The bill is of prime importance because it throws safeguards around the ballot boxes in the primaries, which hitherto have been lacking. The record of primary elections in St. Louis and Kansas City has shown that safeguards are necessary to the control of nominations by the party voters.

The bill also provides for the separation of judicial primaries from the general primary and the nomination of all candidates for the bench by safeguarded conventions.

There is no evidence that Gov. Hyde has receded from his promise and announced intention to support thorough election reforms, but there is strong indication of organized opposition to the election-law program by the politicians. There is reason to believe that unless there is vigorous leadership of the reform forces by the Governor the bill, if not butchered, will be sadly mutilated by the combine for the benefit of the politicians who want to retain control of party nominations.

It is evident that the spirit of partisan and peanut politics did not depart from Jefferson City with the Democratic bosses. The blighting influence of the partisan and the peanut politician—the boss and the yap—both opposed to progressive legislation, is still manifest. If it is not met promptly by effective effort it will handicap the administration and mar the record at Jefferson City. The time is now short and the rush of the closing days of the session will offer opportunity for the reactionary forces which are trying to block progress.

The greater part of Gov. Hyde's progressive program is practically untouched. Reorganization of departments, election reform, educational measures, workmen's compensation and taxation have yet to be handled by the Legislature.

We submit to Gov. Hyde and the legislators who support his election pledges and announced policies that it is full time to translate promises into action.

JOURNALISM AND ITS NEW SCHOOL.

"That which is most essential in journalism is the love, the worship, of truth." This message from Stephane Lausanne, editor of Le Matin, is typical of the sentiment of a symposium of greetings issued from distinguished journalists on the occasion of the dedication of the Joseph Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University.

"In journalism, more than in any other field," says Paul de Dupuy, another Paris editor, "honesty is the best policy. The public looks for truth as well as information in the news. We must sacrifice everything to satisfy such a legitimate desire." The only efficient journalism, writes F. R. Martin, acting manager of the Associated Press, "must have truthful reporting for its corner stone."

The increasing difficulties of securing the whole truth amid the complexities of modern life and the ever-present temptation of exploiting sensation for commercial returns have magnified in the minds of leading journalists the importance of mastering fact. But great as is the god of truth, the journalist who stops with this ideal is in a class with the Christian who loves only his friends. Truth in journalism is a requirement to be assumed. It is the difficulty in always getting it that necessitates the constant emphasis of its importance.

A higher goal for the journalist is hinted in the contribution of Edgar T. Catter of the Associated Press when he says: "A real reporter is a true recorder of important facts stated clearly and in an interesting fashion, with a desire to educate and uplift humanity, a reporter who discards the sordid, the mean and the insignificant as far as may be." Countess Bathurst of the London Post advises "an aim to give prominence to what is best and highest in politics and human life, and to discard the merely sensational, which is harmful to the public." And President-elect Harding, a lifelong, successful journalist, joins in with the declaration that "the greatest achievement (in journalism) . . . is to promote the public good."

The aspiration thus expressed for a journalism higher than the mere purveyance of fact was also the aspiration which animated the efforts of the late Joseph Pulitzer, founder of the Post-Dispatch, when he wrote, in 1904, in connection with his plans for a school of journalism at Columbia University: "Above knowledge, above news, above intelligence, the heart and soul of a paper lie in its moral sense. In its courage, its integrity, its humanity, its sympathy for the oppressed, its independence, its devotion to the public welfare, its anxiety to render public service. Without these there may be smart journalists, but never a truly great or honorable one."

The school of journalism as an institution has been growing and multiplied since the days when skeptics were challenging the possible competence of such a thing. Its place in education is no longer a theory, but a fact. With the field of usefulness thus assured, the Post-Dispatch would add to the felicitations of the journalistic world its hope that the Joseph Medill school is destined for high service to the profession of journalism and, through that profession, to the public.

England's military expenditures.

Sir Philip Gibbs, the British war correspondent, appeared before the House Committee on Naval Affairs at Washington a few days ago to give his views as to disarmament. The figures he submitted as to England's military expenditures would be incredible if we were not guilty of the same fatal mistake. England, Sir Philip said, is now spending $70,000,000 pounds a year on its navy and army, which is more than twice as much as the entire national budget before the war. He pointed out that in Mesopotamia alone, "which is a small adventure," England is spending 40,000,000 pounds a year, or one-third of the pre-war national budget.

Interesting comment was offered by the witness on English public sentiment concerning such expenditures, and on sentiment throughout the nations of Europe which he has visited since the war. Everywhere the feeling prevails that as regards the second objective of the great war, the end of militarism, the people have been betrayed. The military budgets are the proof.

It is impossible to comprehend the statesmanship that is authorizing this enormous folly. It must be patent that a bankrupt world cannot sustain such expenditures. There must be curtailment, not as a matter of option and amiable agreement, but as a matter of dire necessity.

Disarmament is not a theory; it is an imperative condition, if the present economic order is to survive.

THE LINCOLN ANTECEDENTS.

A cherished article of the American faith has been thrown into the discard. Abraham Lincoln, it is learned from the researches of inquisitorial genealogists, did not spring unpedigreed from the Illinois wilderness. In his veins flowed the blood of illustrious ancestors—Governors, Senators, Cabinet members, army officers and a railway president. The log-cabin home of the young Abraham was but a temporary abode for one of a long and consistent line of superior beings whose excellence lapsed only in the case of Thomas Lincoln, the father of Abraham. Only a black sheep in the line—not a eugenic irregularity—separated Abraham from a home with the usual bourgeois amenities and a college education.

Perhaps, in the popular mind, this revelation will dissolve into oblivion under the weight of a tradition which now is established with the tenacity of a religious faith in the bosoms of untold millions of American school children and their teachers. If it does not, the moral force of the Lincoln story will not be lost. Prosperity, brains and character brought Lincoln's ancestors to the estate of distinguished leaders among men. The hard school of adversity made the name of Abraham not only the greatest of the Lincolns, but the greatest of the Presidents of the United States.

Moreover, the contempt of Lincoln for the ancestral crutch is a valuable point in the great emancipator's example. He knew nothing of his antecedents except of a poverty-stricken father. He cared less. The American who would follow in his footsteps will make the most of the "uses of adversity" and leave his pedigree in the limbo of beautiful mystery.

Is it because the State has failed to educate the Legislature that the Legislature seems reluctant to educate the State?

CO-OPERATION AGAINST CRIMINALS.

The good work of the Franklin County posse that unearthed what appears to have been a formidable robber stronghold on the bank of the Meramec River, and recovered all the loot from a St. Clair bank, does not obscure the urgent need for closer co-operation between the city police and the peace officers of surrounding towns and villages.

This need is emphasized by Chief of Detectives Hannegan, who points out that criminals sought by the city police usually transfer their operations to smaller towns, at least until the search for them has relaxed. There should be a system, he says, whereby the peace officers of outlying districts would report to the police of larger cities the presence and description of suspicious characters.

Such a system would have resulted, it appears, in the apprehension of the prisoners in this case, some time before the latest offense with which they are now charged was committed. Their presence in the community was known locally. This fact, accompanied by a description, and communicated to the St. Louis police, would have resulted in a raid on the rendezvous, as two of the men were well known to the city police, and were wanted on the charge of murdering an East Side officer. Rural peace officers should adopt Chief Hannegan's suggestion for the general good.

EDITORIAL SPARKS.

But there will be capital punishment as long as people live in Washington in hot weather.—New York Mail.

In spite of everything being done to prevent it, people seem to be having a pretty good time.—El Paso Herald.

A recent convention of plumbers was delayed while the chairman went back to the shop for a gavel.—St. Paul News.

The Town Cynic says he is wondering whether the world is going to the devil, or whether the devil will come and get it.—Nashville Tennessean.

The two grandmothers who started from Nebraska to Washington in a flying machine received a lot of letters. Grandmothers have been flying about for generations, but nobody thought anything about it.—Hanford (Cal.) Journal.

The Swiss nation is very lucky that it has no navy. Switzerland has gone along very well without that form of insurance against war, and it has been able to trade with other countries with entire safety, in spite of its lack of floating bill collectors.—San Francisco Chronicle.

No, sir! Those Filipinos are not yet ready for independence. They haven't any government scandals to speak of, any crime wave. They aren't spending millions to run down illicit booze. And, worst of all, they have a bill in their Senate, at Manila, making it obligatory for all male Filipinos to wear pants.—Petaluma (Cal.) Courier.

grown and multiplied since the days when skeptics were challenging the possible competence of such a thing. Its place in education is no longer a theory, but a fact. With the field of usefulness thus assured, the Post-Dispatch would add to the felicitations of the journalistic world its hope that the Joseph Medill school is destined for high service to the profession of journalism and, through that profession, to the public.

ENGLAND'S MILITARY EXPENDITURES.

Sir Philip Gibbs, the British war correspondent, appeared before the House Committee on Naval Affairs at Washington a few days ago to give his views as to disarmament. The figures he submitted as to England's military expenditures would be incredible if we were not guilty of the same fatal mistake. England, Sir Philip said, is now spending $70,000,000 pounds a year on its navy and army, which is more than twice as much as the entire national budget before the war. He pointed out that in Mesopotamia alone, "which is a small adventure," England is spending 40,000,000 pounds a year, or one-third of the pre-war national budget.

Interesting comment was offered by the witness on English public sentiment concerning such expenditures, and on sentiment throughout the nations of Europe which he has visited since the war. Everywhere the feeling prevails that as regards the second objective of the great war, the end of militarism, the people have been betrayed. The military budgets are the proof.

It is impossible to comprehend the statesmanship that is authorizing this enormous folly. It must be patent that a bankrupt world cannot sustain such expenditures. There must be curtailment, not as a matter of option and amiable agreement, but as a matter of dire necessity.

Disarmament is not a theory; it is an imperative condition, if the present economic order is to survive.

THE LINCOLN ANTECEDENTS.

A cherished article of the American faith has been thrown into the discard. Abraham Lincoln, it is learned from the researches of inquisitorial genealogists, did not spring unpedigreed from the Illinois wilderness. In his veins flowed the blood of illustrious ancestors—Governors, Senators, Cabinet members, army officers and a railway president. The log-cabin home of the young Abraham was but a temporary abode for one of a long and consistent line of superior beings whose excellence lapsed only in the case of Thomas Lincoln, the father of Abraham. Only a black sheep in the line—not a eugenic irregularity—separated Abraham from a home with the usual bourgeois amenities and a college education.

Perhaps, in the popular mind, this revelation will dissolve into oblivion under the weight of a tradition which now is established with the tenacity of a religious faith in the bosoms of untold millions of American school children and their teachers. If it does not, the moral force of the Lincoln story will not be lost. Prosperity, brains and character brought Lincoln's ancestors to the estate of distinguished leaders among men. The hard school of adversity made the name of Abraham not only the greatest of the Lincolns, but the greatest of the Presidents of the United States.

Moreover, the contempt of Lincoln for the ancestral crutch is a valuable point in the great emancipator's example. He knew nothing of his antecedents except of a poverty-stricken father. He cared less. The American who would follow in his footsteps will make the most of the "uses of adversity" and leave his pedigree in the limbo of beautiful mystery.

Is it because the State has failed to educate the Legislature that the Legislature seems reluctant to educate the State?

CO-OPERATION AGAINST CRIMINALS.

The good work of the Franklin County posse that unearthed what appears to have been a formidable robber stronghold on the bank of the Meramec River, and recovered all the loot from a St. Clair bank, does not obscure the urgent need for closer co-operation between the city police and the peace officers of surrounding towns and villages.

This need is emphasized by Chief of Detectives Hannegan, who points out that criminals sought by the city police usually transfer their operations to smaller towns, at least until the search for them has relaxed. There should be a system, he says, whereby the peace officers of outlying districts would report to the police of larger cities the presence and description of suspicious characters.

Such a system would have resulted, it appears, in the apprehension of the prisoners in this case, some time before the latest offense with which they are now charged was committed. Their presence in the community was known locally. This fact, accompanied by a description, and communicated to the St. Louis police, would have resulted in a raid on the rendezvous, as two of the men were well known to the city police, and were wanted on the charge of murdering an East Side officer. Rural peace officers should adopt Chief Hannegan's suggestion for the general good.

LEAVE IT TO BILL—HE'LL TUNE 'ER UP.

Those of us who used to wish that every day would be like Sunday have reason now, in the imminence of blue laws, to doubt if there is any rest in this world for the weary.

Between the lawmaking reformer abroad and the wife and the lace curtains at home, the man who wants to smoke will have to hide out.

Burns called man the noblest work of God, but that was before he (man) was standardized and provided with interchangeable parts by legislative enactment.

The objection to either the violet or the white blossom of the red haw as the official flower of Missouri is that they don't mean anything. I would suggest, instead, some typical flower of the desert, say that of the cactus—if it has any.

And then, to complete the program of emblematic designs expressive of our very arid and delicate surroundings, I would substitute the camel for the two bears on the State's coat-of-arms.

If there is truly a season for all things, as Solomon thought, possibly the weather we are having just now is to be accounted for by our impatience to try the new fertilizer which kills weeds. Neither our hopes nor our fears of that discovery can wait until the usual season for spring and the weather like as not knows it.

Announcement that the printers of Gadsden, Ga., have accepted a reduction in wages has been corrected to read "painters" which recalls our suspicion at that time that there probably aren't any printers in Gadsden, Ga.

—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

SENATOR IRWIN DELIVERING HIS FAMOUS SPEECH ON ART
DONATED TO THE NEW STATE CAPITOL.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH
by Clark McDanns

THE NEW WEAPON.

"D. B. Bradner, chief of the chemical research division of the Chemical Warfare Service, told the subcommittee which framed the pending annual army appropriations bill that the service had discovered a liquid, approximately three drops of which, if applied to any part of the skin, would cause a man's death."—Post-Dispatch, Feb. 9.

FAIR SCIENCE, who full often gave New methods human life to save, Now seems intent to use her skill In new contrivances to kill.

Her latest triumph in this line Will surely hell itself outshine: A liquid whereof three drops can, Touching his body, kill a man.

What is this stuff? Has it a name? Ask him from whom the tidings came; Try Bradner—if to him unknown Try cyanide-acetone.

What armies henceforth can we need? Proclaim disarmament with speed; Mars has committed suicide With acetonic-cyanide.

Now air-ships through the blue expanse Will fly with their huge sprinkling cans, Their cyanide-acetone Raining down death on every zone! PLINTHURGOS.

PIN-PRICKING.

Our sins multiply with our laws. Anyhow, we'll hardly go back to burning witches and cutting the ears off of Quakers.

The constructive side of prohibition lies in the question of whether we shall have more jails or more asylums.

The selling of liquor under the Volstead act to the sick is mostly to people who are sick of prohibition.

Those of us who used to wish that every day would be like Sunday have reason now, in the imminence of blue laws, to doubt if there is any rest in this world for the weary.

Between the lawmaking reformer abroad and the wife and the lace curtains at home, the man who wants to smoke will have to hide out.

Burns called man the noblest work of God, but that was before he (man) was standardized and provided with interchangeable parts by legislative enactment.

The objection to either the violet or the white blossom of the red haw as the official flower of Missouri is that they don't mean anything. I would suggest, instead, some typical flower of the desert, say that of the cactus—if it has any.

And then, to complete the program of emblematic designs expressive of our very arid and delicate surroundings, I would substitute the camel for the two bears on the State's coat-of-arms.

If there is truly a season for all things, as Solomon thought, possibly the weather we are having just now is to be accounted for by our impatience to try the new fertilizer which kills weeds. Neither our hopes nor our fears of that discovery can wait until the usual season for spring and the weather like as not knows it.

Announcement that the printers of Gadsden, Ga., have accepted a reduction in wages has been corrected to read "painters" which recalls our suspicion at that time that there probably aren't any printers in Gadsden, Ga.

—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

WOMEN'S

Mrs. S.

By H.

Being the Conf.

CONSIDER the Cat,

He prinketh not more self-complacently

Behold, his DIGNITY

behave, who treat it light

Lo, a dog may be as little tricks for the dais

But the Cat scorneth

only that which pleaseth

Without question, he

cepth the softest pillow

He permiteth himself

he is called "Nice Pussy"

when he is held too tight

He loveth best those always to that woman who satisfies

disturbeth his slumbers,

throw cold water upon

Lo, he wandereth

he pleaseth and all his repentance is not IN him

Behold, I ADORE

like unto MEN.

Yet, all the days of

And the term of opp

Consider the Dog, I

He hath no apom

He yearneth only

He cannot be shak

him wherefore he goe

He permiteth him

eth joyfully a kind word

fully at a bone or a co

He "speakeeth" whe

manded to do, learneth

light, constantly hegeth

He is, at once a tar

and a vexation to the sp

For a man never k

Verily, verily, all m emotions resemble a

He is, at once a tar

And the term of op

Mrs. Solomon Says:---

By HELEN ROWLAND

Being the Confessions of the Seven-Hundredth Wife.

CONSIDER the Cat, my Daughter. He prinketh not, neither doth he pose; yet, my Lady in sable is not more self-complacent than one of these. Behold, his DIGNITY is dearer to him than his life; and let them beware, who treat it lightly. Lo, a dog may be taught to fetch and carry, and to perform amusing little tricks for the delight of company, as likewise may a woman. But the Cat scorneth to be made use of about the house, and doeth only that which pleaseth himself, even as doth a man. Without question, he occupieth the most comfortable armchair, accepteth the softest pillow, and receiveth his meals, at regular hours. He permiteth himself to be petted, and purrcth with approval, when he is called "Nice Pussy!" and "Pretty Pussy!" but strugglcth to ESCAPE when he is held too tightly or too fondly. He loveth best those who are most indifferent to him, and clingeth always to that woman who maketh him most comfortable, and feedeth him satiatingly. He despiseth those who rub his fur the wrong way, hateth those who disturb his slumbers, and fleeth in terror and disgust from those who throw cold water upon his coat, or his vanity. Lo, he wandereth whithersoever he listeth, and returneth whensoever he pleaseth, and all his nights are spent in song, and flights, and prowling. But, when morning cometh, he is covered with virtue and dignity; and repentance is not in him. Behold, I ADORE the Cat, and so doth every woman. For he is so like unto MEN. Yet, all the days of his life, he hath been called "SHE!" And the term of opprobrium among women is "Cat!" Consider the Dog, my Daughter. He hath no aplomb, no self-complacency, and no dignity. He yearneth only to be LOVED, and is delighted to be noticed. He cannot be shaken off, but clingeth to ONE master, and followeth him wheresoever he goeth. He permiteth himself to be mauled and to be stepped upon, accepteth joyfully a kind word and a pat upon the head, and snatcheth gracefully at a bone or a compliment which is FLUNG at him. He "apeaketh" when he is spoken to, doeth whatsoever he is commanded to do, learneth many "stunts" for his master's amusement and delight, constantly beggeth for attention and is never QUIET. He is, at once a torment and a comfort, a plaything, a heart's delight, and a vexation to the spirit! For a man never knoweth what he will do, 'NEXT!' Verily, verily, all men love dogs; for the DOG in all his ways and his emotions resembleth a WOMAN. Yet, all the days of his life he hath been called "HE!" And the term of opprobrium, among the men, is "Dog!" (Copyright, 1921.)

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Happy Jack Changes His Mind.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

If perchance I change my mind
It no sign I'm fickle.
To promptly change when he is wrong
No one should ever stickle.

PETER RABBIT turned his head to look at Happy Jack. "If you were not afraid you would go right in there and find out if Bobby Coon is there," he said. "I don't doubt that you would if you were in my place, but some people haven't any sense of honor," retorted Happy Jack. "That is Bobby Coon's house and no one else has a right to go in it. I know I would like it if anyone came poking about in my house while I was asleep. No one has a right to enter the house of another unless invited to do so." Peter thought of how he had been in Johnny Chuck's house and Jimmy Skunk's house while they slept, and in spite of himself he had a feeling of shame. But he didn't let Happy Jack know that. "If Bobby Coon is asleep he never will know anything about it, so what harm is there?" said Peter. "No harm at all," retorted Happy Jack, "but a lot of harm to me. I would lose my self-respect, and I would rather have my self-respect than satisfy idle curiosity." "Huh!" said Peter Rabbit, but he didn't say it loud enough for Happy Jack to hear. The fact is, Peter knew that Happy Jack was right.

HOME SUGGESTIONS

When your hands are shrunken and soft from washing, rub them with salt and they will become smooth. A large, coarse cloth dipped in salt water will clean and brighten matting.

The women of Mexico City have formed an anti-alcohol society.

Fiction Extraordinary!

Commencing in NEXT WEDNESDAY

On the Women's Page, and for eleven Wednesdays thereafter there will be published for

THE FIRST TIME
A REMARKABLE SERIES OF STORIES BY
J. S. FLETCHER
OF THE
LONDON SPECTATOR

EACH STORY WILL BE COMPLETE IN ITSELF
EVERY WEDNESDAY

These splendid stories for the readers of THE POST-DISPATCH will be found highly interesting and even better than the "House of Mystery" stories which have lately run in THE POST-DISPATCH. The first one, next Wednesday, will be

THE COW-HIDE BAG

This story will be in addition to the regular serial stories of the "House of Mystery" which will be published on Thursday, as usual, and the installment of another splendid serial story which will be continued on the Sunday. A new serial will begin.

What do you mean by cold feet?" demanded Happy Jack sharply. "I mean you are afraid to go in there. You're a fraud, that's what you are," retorted Peter Rabbit. "No such thing! I'm not afraid!" retorted Happy Jack angrily. "Yes, you are; you're afraid!" re-

"Scraps of Paper"

The Jacobites

By J. J. Bell

(Copyright, 1920.)

THE hostess had not yet partaken of wine, but now she raised her glass of claret and, with a grave inquiring glance at Cameron, extended her hand unwaveringly till it was above the bowl of water and pansies. Withdrawing it without haste, she drank. Marjorie repeated the act as though it were a matter of course. And then Cameron, as solemnly, if not as naturally, followed suit, while Wilder tried not to stare. The ladies rose. From the sideboard Marjorie fetched a silver casket containing cigarettes and a little spirit lamp and matches on a tray. "Flora will bring your coffee," said the hostess, "and you must not hurry over your smoke. Come to the drawing room when you are ready. We can have bridge, if you like, and perhaps my granddaughter will sing to us." Wilder, holding the door as they passed out, looked for an instant into the dark eyes of the girl, and saw something very like an appeal. Somewhat dazed he returned to the table. "Bring your chair nearer," said Cameron, and went on in a lowered voice, and not without emotion, "The unthinkable is before us! Old man! I take back what I said on the moon this afternoon." "What?" said Peter Rabbit, but he didn't say it loud enough for Happy Jack to hear. The fact is, Peter knew that Happy Jack was right. Cameron smiled dryly. "A mad moment, for which I shall probably be sorry. For I know nothing about modern Jacobitism—wouldn't have credited its existence an hour ago—and now I shall have to play a part, or hurt that dear old lady, our hostess." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall be gone tomorrow," Wilder returned with an inward sigh. "At any rate, I do not imagine that you will be expected to join in the silent toast at breakfast." "The night is not over. I detest bridge, but I hope the game may start when we adjourn to the drawing room. If not, I must trust to you to keep our hostess in close conversation." "I'm!" muttered Wilder, thinking of a pair of dark eyes. By the way, he went on, "Have you noticed that armchair—the one with the cord?" "Another relic of the '45, I should say. Charles was much in this district both before and after the downfall of Culloden. But as a fugitive he did not, if I remember my history, enter a decent house." "O, history! What does history know about it? I can see the poor man, all rage and weariness, sitting there and being served with wine as I was served this afternoon. No one too fine to wait upon him!" "Well, I dare say stranger things have happened in this house," Cameron allowed, and just then the maid came in with the coffee. Cameron need not have dreaded the hours in the drawing room. There was nothing in the hostess' manner to suggest that she had found in him an unexpected adherent to the cause. For an hour or so they played bridge, then Marjorie, at her grandmother's request, sang to the piano. She sang one or two ballads of that year's publishing, then at a word, in Gaelic, from the old lady, she put away the music, let her fingers stray over the keys a while through old Highland melodies, and drifted, as it were, into songs of the Jacobites, to which her low voice was singularly suited. The ill-starred Charles failed dimly to win back his father's kingdom, but he inspired songs, tender, uplifting, despairing, that shall be sung when the last dynasty is dust. As he listened Wilder began to understand certain things. He was no sentimentalist, and some of the songs were not new to his ears, though till now he had sensed from these pathetic wails and wailing and haunting tunes, but tonight his soul caught a faint echo from the souls of those who had made and sung them, of those who had hearkened and wept, so many years ago, when thousands of men—and women, too—lived and died for a man—or was it an idea?—called "Charlie." Wilder's imagination, which had but dropped on the moor that afternoon, now began to grasp the tragedy, mystery, and romance of these mountain lochs, and glens. He glanced at Cameron, who was attentive but seemingly quite unaffected by the song. Less openly he glanced at his hostess, and saw a tear on her cheek. For himself, he would have been the last to deny that he was moved. The singing ended, and Mrs. Cameron rose to retire. Very kindly she bade goodnight to her guests, saying to Cameron, "Randall will help you when you are ready for bed. You must not put your foot down." "I begin to understand," said Wilder. "But who is that?" pointing to the portrait. "Didn't you guess? Why, that is the young Chevalier—Charles Edward Stuart—Prince, or Pretender, as you choose to call him. Highly idealized, no doubt?" "You can't be sure of that," said Wilder quickly. "Why grudge the man his good looks?" "Those eyes are you looking through?" Cameron asked teasingly. "It is you who ought to have passed your glass over the water!" But seriously, I feel myself in a hole. "We shall

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague.

FROM KING SOLOMON.

Form K-41144.

Won't you be one of my valentines—
Say Number Eight Hundred and Three?
For I've seen your face in the market place
And you look pretty good to me.
Of course this isn't a personal note,
And yet it will have to do,
For I've got to propose, 'ere the season's closed,
To three hundred girls like you.

FROM BLUE BEARD.

Fatima, be my Valentine—
My love, and joy and pride—
The last remaining wife of mine
Has only lately died.
Our marriage somehow turned out bad,
And, after we were wed,
To keep my peace of mind I had To amputate her head.
But if you'll only share my lot,
When we have got acquainted,
I'm sure you'll find that I am not
As blue as I am painted.
Please answer quick, for pity's sake
For I have much to do,
And you must give me time to take Insurance out on you.

FROM HENRY VIII.

(To Jane Seymour.)
Say my Valentine you'll be—
Your beauty has me thrilled,
Poor Ann did not appeal to me
And so I had her killed.
But if you will not bob your curls
And, with those lovely eyes,
Attempt to ramp my Dukes and Earls
And other titled guys,
Upon your charming face will shine
The glory of my smile.
And you can be my Valentine
At least a little while!

SURPRISING.
A Paris physician says the X-ray will make women beautiful, but you'd never think so from looking at the X-ray photographs that are taken of them.

Figuratively.

Hobo: Yes, lady, dere was a time when I had money to burn, and worse'n dat, I did burn it.
Old Lady: And what did you burn it with, my poor man?
Hobo: With an old flame o' mine.
—Boston Transcript.

Modern Economy.

"I don't spend as much money on my girl as I used to a couple of years ago."
"How's that?"
"Well, I used to bring her candy when I called. Now she's satisfied with a package of cigarettes."
—American Legion Weekly.

No Show.

"Judge, your honor," cried the prisoner at the bar, "have I got to be tried by a jury?"
"Be still!" whispered his attorney.
"I won't be still! Judge, I can't even fool my own wife, let alone 12 strange women. I'm guilty."—Country Gentleman.

Some Feat.

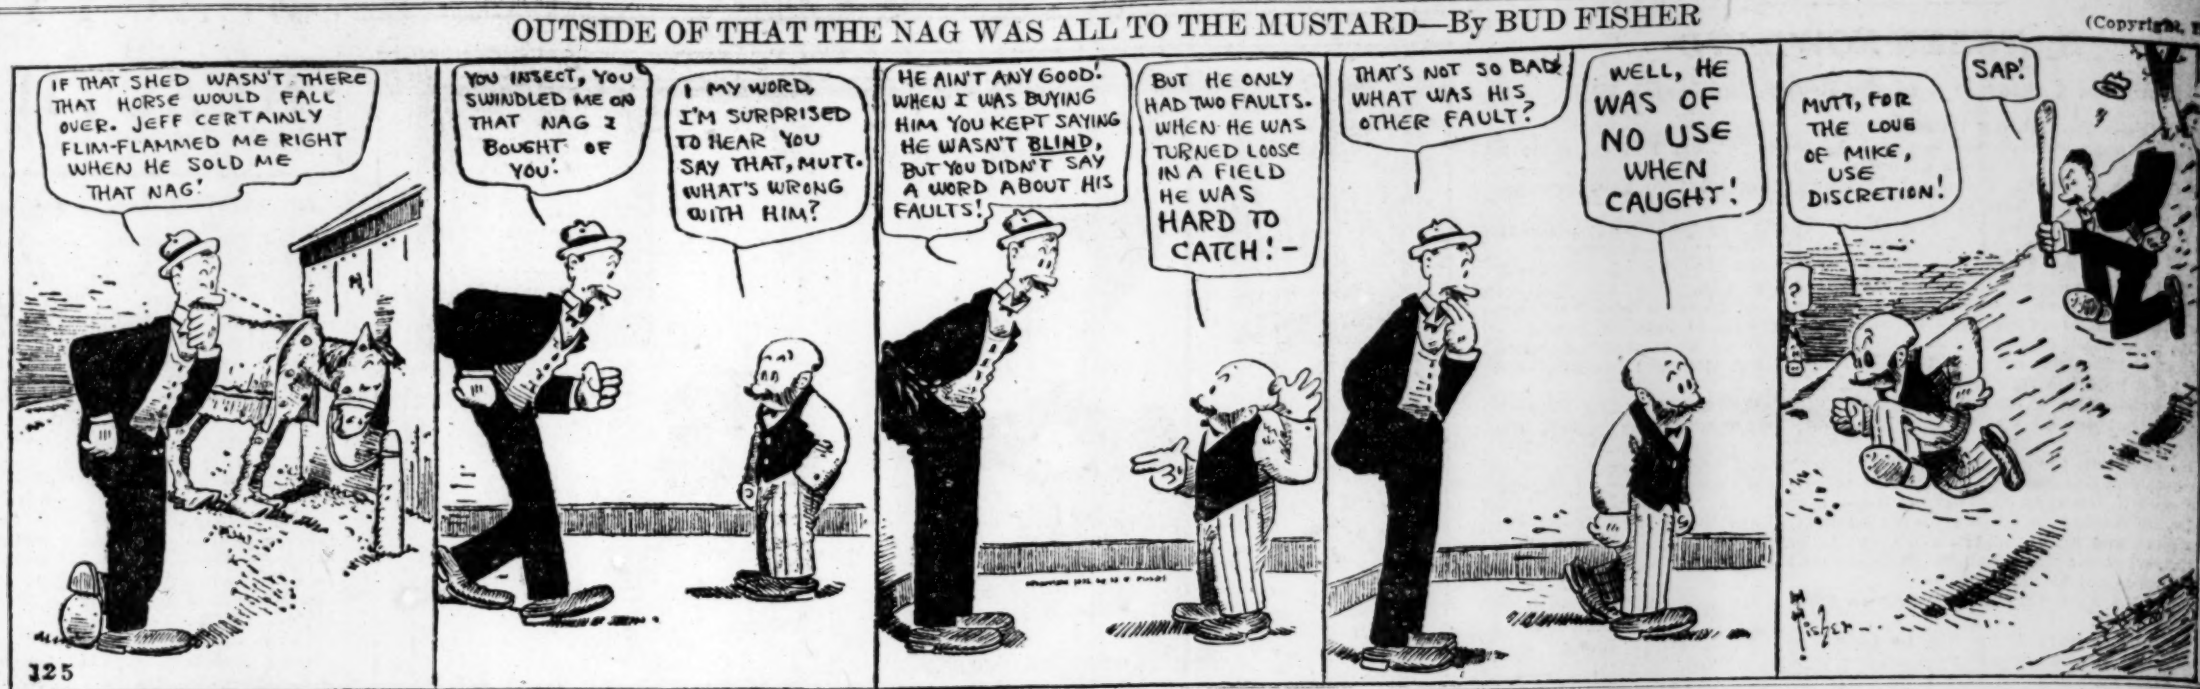

"Yes, mum," he bragged, "I once invented a rubber pneumatic suit for men working at great heights."
"And was it successful?" asked an unsuspecting one.
"It should say it was," he replied.
"D'you know the first workman who fell off a building wearing one bounced so hard and long that we had to throw biscuits to him to keep him alive."—Los Angeles Times.

Not So Sure Now.

"Do you know how to run a motor car?"
"Why, I thought I did until I had a short conversation with a cop yesterday."—Boston Transcript.

His Own Carriage.

"Yes, mum," envied the panhandler, "there was a time when I rode in my own carriage."
"My, what a come-down!" sympathized the kind-hearted woman.
"And how long has it been since you rode in your own carriage?"
"Just 45 years, mum," replied the panhandler, as he pocketed the proffered dime. "I was a baby then."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Demanding Money.

"You look serious."
"Um."
"What is it—a Black Hand note demanding money?"
"More serious than that. This letter is from my wife."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Excellent Reason.

"Have you any reason for doubting what I say?"
"I have."
"What is it?"
"I don't believe you."—Boston Transcript.

No Pleasure for Him.

A kind-hearted woman who was being shown through the jail exclaimed to a convict: "Won't you be glad when your sentence is over?"
Convict: I don't know.
Lady: You don't know? Why?
Convict: I'm in for life.—Chicago Herald-Examiner.

Real Bravery.

Redd: He's what I call a brave man.
Greene: What do you mean by a brave man?
"He's not afraid to die."
"How do you know he's not afraid to die?"
"Cause he lets his wife drive his car when he's in it."—Yonkers Statesman.

Team Work.

Wife (directing husband on step-ladder, hanging a picture): To the right. No to the left. Just a little lower. Hold on! Up, up there.
Husband (creeping down): Thank God, that's over. But now that we have this picture right, we'll have to change all the others.—New York Sun.

Needed Education.

"It is the unexpected that always happens," observed the sage.
"Well," commented the fool, "if this is true, why don't we learn to expect it?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Actions Speak Louder.

Pat: An' what did your ould woman say when ye come in at 3 o'clock this mornin'?

Mike: Sure, the darlin' soul never said a word. An' I was goin' to have them two front teeth pulled out anyways.—American Legion Weekly.

Why Not?

"In France they make a brew with prunes and call it prunes and call it prunes!"
"In American they make their stuff with raisins. Why not call it raisin-elle?"—American Legion Weekly.

Never Say Die.

"Doesn't the high cost of living discourage you?"
"Not at all!" replied the energetic citizen. "It worried me at first, but I have decided to go right on living, regardless of the expense."—Washington Star.

Self Made Title.

Budd: I intend to write a history of Ireland. What would you suggest for a title?
Dudd: Scraps of Irish history.—New York Sun.

Expert Opinion Wanted.

Her Suitor: He said I was an ad-die-pated billy goat. What do you advise me to do about it?
She: See a good veterinary.—London Telegraph.

Method in It.

"Now Blubdub vows he can't be separated from his wife."
"He suspects her doctor is going to send her to Havana for the winter."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A New Simile.

One moment you see it and then it's gone, like a flask.—Life.

From Jest to Earnest.

"What is the proper height for a woman's skirt?"
"A little over two feet."
So ran the ancient whorl—but today there seems to be a tendency to take the reply literally.—Boston Transcript.

Revised: "What can they know of Ireland who only England knows?"—New York Tribune.

Celebrated Comebacks.

These will always come back: Red checks, drowned cats, freaks, gossip, H. C. L., spring.
These would like to come back: Booze, Gormani, Jess Willard, profiteers, Democratic party, graduates.
These will never come back: Autocracy, first love, 5-cent movies, innocence, last year's clothes, natural complexion.—University of Wisconsin Octopus.

Can You Beat It?—By Ketten

